More indictments served; Grand Jury to reconvene

BY DENA BISNETTE
More of the 87 indictments issued by the Hancock County Grand Jury last week have been served, but a court official said the Grand Jury may add a few more true bills to that total. Circuit Clerk Pamela Metzler said the Grand Jury is scheduled to return on March 28 for a one or two-day session to hear a few more cases. A final report is expected at the end of that session.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said indictments on 36 charges were served on 20 people this week. They include:
—Janet Ladner, 22, Rt. 3, Box 900, Bay St. Louis, three counts sale of controlled substance;
—Wesley A. Ladner, 21, Rt. 3, Box 900, Bay St. Louis, one

Sod-turning marks start of school

BY D.C. HARVILL
The Hancock County School District marked the end of years of preparation and controversy Monday with a groundbreaking ceremony for its new junior/senior high school.

The facility is being built adjacent to Stennis International Airport by Louisiana firm Lincoln Builders for nearly $8 million.

"The controversies that have surrounded...the construction of this school will fade in a few years, but the product that this school delivers will be remembered forever," Superintendent Terrell Randolph said at the ceremony.

Approximately 50 educators, dignitaries and interested citizens filled a classroom at the Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center to hear guest speaker John Hartman, executive secretary of the Mississippi School Board Association.

The speaker's portion of the program had been moved indoors due to near-freezing temperatures. Sleet and snow flurries had been reported in the area earlier in the day.

A smaller number of well-bundled spectators walked to the nearby school site to witness the sod-turning by Randolph and the five currently serving school board members, Lennette Ncaise, Frank Miller, Carol Bustetter, Kay Sones and Barbara Dedeaux.

Hartman, speaking on education trends said, "I am convinced that Hancock County Schools are on a course of instructional excellence. This district has scored as high or higher than any other school district in the state."

"You are going to see a beautiful structure out there in 16 to 18 months, but more importantly, you are going to see an improvement in your children's education. I commend you for your effort to attain excellence," Hartman said.

"This day has been a dream of mine for about 13 years, to build a new educational facility," said Randolph. "Persistence not only by me and this board, but by other superintendents and boards before us has contributed to this. It took a lot of work by a lot of people."

"Now all that is over with, we now have a super school that will do all the things we want to do in the future," he said.

"When this building is completed and in use, I believe that pride will overcome adversities and we will direct all of our attention to what is most important—the moral, social and educational welfare of the children of this county," he concluded.

The school, scheduled for completion by July 1, 1990, will have a total 204,000 square feet of covered area and 83 classrooms, constituting the largest construction project ever undertaken in the county, outside of Stennis Space Center. Cost of construction is expected to approach $9 million when the facility is fully furnished.

Controversy over the school centered around the question of whether it was safe having a school adjacent to an airport and industrial complex. Opponents also argued that a school would hinder growth of the industrial airport.

St. Patrick's parade set for Saturday

BY ELLIS CUEVAS
The 26th annual St. Patrick's parade sponsored by the Waveland Civic Association is scheduled for Sat., March 11, at 2 p.m.

Waveland resident Owen J. McArdle Sr. will serve as Grand Marshal with Colleen Shantel Marie Douglas and 10 maids.

The parade will form on Waveland Avenue at Central Avenue prior to a 2 p.m. departure, Jay Lagasse, parade chairman said.

The parade route is from Waveland Avenue down Central to Coleman; Coleman to the Beach; Beach to Lafitte; Lafitte to Central; Central to St. Joseph Street the disbanding point.

The 1989 maids for the annual event are, Jennifer Brignac, Tammy Bergeron, Anne Marie Borja, Jamie Gallagher, Michelle Williams, Allison McArthur, Annette Sterling, Jennifer Marie Fonseca, Cindy Kay Quick, and Jennifer Lee Dagnall.

McArdle is retired from the Olivetti Corporation and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The former New Orleans resident has been married to Adele Brummet McArdle for 49 years and they are the parents of four daughters and one son, who is deceased.

McArdle is an active member of the Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Post 77, Waveland; Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3253, Bay St. Louis; Disabled American Veterans Chapter 10, New Orleans; and 40 & 8 Voiture 432.

The Grand Marshall is also an active volunteer in R.S.V.P.'s Meals on Wheels; Project Grandpa; and is a member of the Waveland Civic Association and St. Clare Catholic Church.

In case of rain, the parade will be rescheduled for Sunday at 2 p.m., Lawrence Freeman, Waveland Civic Association president said.

Meadows named district attorney

BY DENA BISNETTE
Governor Ray Mabus has appointed Gulfport attorney Joseph R. Meadows as interim district attorney, a move that Hancock County court officials hope will get the office's operations back on schedule.

Meadows, who will succeed Glenn Cannon, is a former president of the Mississippi State Bar Association. However, his experience is in civil law rather than the criminal law with which a district attorney must deal.

Meadows has stated that he has no plans to seek election as district attorney, a post which Cannon resigned Friday.

The governor said Meadows will serve until the winner of a Nov. 7 special election can take office.

"Joe Meadows is an outstanding, widely respected lawyer who can go in and get that office up and running. He can get the job done for the people of the Coast," Mabus said Tuesday in announcing the appointment.

"I would have preferred not appointing an interim district attorney, but the office has been in turmoil for such a long time that it needs someone who can devote his full energy to straightening things out."

"Running a campaign would make that difficult to do."

State Attorney General Mike Moore has agreed to provide any assistance Meadows may require.

"I am confident that these actions today will put the prosecution of criminals back on track for the Coast," mabus said.

Hancock County Circuit Clerk Pamela Metzler said she knows Meadows' reputation and "he's a fine man and a respected civil attorney."

However, she expressed surprise at his appointment to the district attorney post.

"I'm very surprised it's not somebody who has experience in the criminal field. It's my understanding that he has no experience in that area whatsoever."

"I'm concerned about any delay that might cause in getting us back on track. I know Mr. Meadows. He's a very intelligent man and if he's a good organizer, he just might be able to do it."

"I'm pleased to hear it's somebody who will not run," Metzler added. "I feel politics should be left out of the office at this

Vo-Tech future still hanging

BY D.C. HARVILL
The Pearl River Community College Board of Trustees Monday postponed making a decision on the future of the Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center.

A committee, appointed by the board to make a recommendation on whether the college should turn the center over to the Hancock County School District, declined to do so.

The college board recently announced that it needed to cut back on the amount it is spending on vocational training for high school students, saying it spend more of it ad valorem tax support on high school students than on college courses at it Poplarville campus.

One proposal calls for the center to be run by the county school district.

The school district may not be able to support the center according to Superintendent Terrell Randolph.

In the mean time, sentiment against the proposal is growing in the county. A petition circulated at convenience stores and other establishments this week contained approximately 300 names Wednesday afternoon.

According to Larry Stanford, PRCC public relations officer, the committee chose to postpone the recommendation until it can arrive at a decision "suitable to everyone."

An employee of the Hancock County School District who requested anonymity, referred to the center as "our light under a bushel" and "the key to economic growth in Hancock County," saying our students need vocational training to take advantage of jobs in industry.

The center serves students from the Hancock County and Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Systems and St. Stanislaus High School.

The committee is scheduled to meet again on March 20 and will make a recommendation to the full board at 2 p.m. March 23, Stanford said.

St. Stanislaus, Waveland reefs reopened by BMR

All private reef areas west of a line from Menge Avenue in Pass Christian to the west tip of Cat Island are reopened to oyster harvest.

Only the St. Stanislaus and Waveland public reefs have reopened. All other public reefs in this area remain closed.

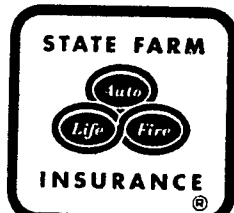

All oystering areas off Cat Island will remain closed due to unacceptable water samples. The Bureau of Marine Resources will continue sampling of these waters and when acceptable, they will be reopened.

Areas in Jackson County open to oystering were not affected by the recent rainfall. Additional rainfall may necessitate further closures in any area.

All fishermen are reminded they are required to check-in prior to and check-out after harvest daily at BMR designated stations in all areas.

Frisbie to run for circuit judge

Former Hancock County Public Defender William M. Frisbie has announced his candidacy for Circuit Court judge in the Second Judicial District special election.

Frisbie, who served five years in the post before becoming a full-time public defender for Washington County in 1987, is running as a Republican.

He has maintained his voting status and a permanent residence in Hancock County.

The candidate has 25 years of experience in trial work in Mississippi courts and has served under several different judges.

He received his bachelor's degree from University of Southern Mississippi and his juris doctorate from University of Missouri.

He is a veteran of the Korean Conflict.

In addition to serving as public defender, Frisbie had a private law practice in Bay St. Louis that he opened in 1964 after serving a year with the firm of Russell and Favre. The candidate was admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court in 1975.

Frisbie has served in political office before, first as a Bay St. Louis city commissioner in 1969, a job which included the posts of city clerk, commissioner of utilities and city judge. In 1976, he was elected a Justice Court judge and was active in the reorganization of the Justice Court system.

Frisbie is a former member of the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission and the Mississippi Trial Lawyers Association, and he serves on the board of directors for the Mississippi Public Defenders Association.

His other professional memberships include or have included the Missouri, Illinois, Mississippi and American Bar Associations. He is a past president of the Hancock County Bar Association.

The candidate has also been active in civic affairs and is a

Other memberships include American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans and the United States Combined Training Association. He is a 32nd degree Mason and a charter member of Joppa Shrine Temple.

Bishop seeking Pass Ward 1 alderman seat

Former Pass Christian mayor Gordon E. Bishop has announced his candidacy for that city's Ward One alderman's office.

Bishop, 68, is retired from Keeslar Air Force Base as civilian chief of procurement. He served as mayor from 1981 to 1985.

GORDON E. BISHOP

For nine years, he served on the Harrison County Tourism Commission, two of which were in the capacity of chairman.

His education includes completion of all procurement, management and procurement law courses conducted by Ohio State University for Air Force personnel.

Bishop is a Catholic and a member of the Pass Christian Yacht Club, where he has served in all offices including commodore.

"The city has engaged in rather frivolous affairs in the past four years. I would like to get the city back to a more realistic form of government. I believe in a strong management of city funds," Bishop said.

Among the accomplishments he cites from his tenure as mayor is a savings of $25,000, without an increase of taxes over the four year term.

Randall announces candidacy for Chancery Court Judge

J. N. Randall has announced his candidacy for Chancery Court Judge in District 8, Place 8, which includes Harrison, Hancock and Stone counties.

The 47-year-old Gulfport attorney said his number one priority in office will be to speed up the court system by introducing new methods that have been used successfully in other areas.

Randall pointed to the use of domestic relations mediators as one innovation that has not yet been attempted on the Coast.

"The practice of using mediators has grown in other parts of the country and state," he said, "because it saves valuable time in court."

"The carrying out of justice should be the first priority, of course," said Randall, "but if there's a way to save people time and money, we should look at it."

"Those in the office of Chancellor must be ready and willing to utilize change in order to better serve the people of their district. I pledge to be a vigorous and dynamic addition to the existing system," he added.

"For over two decades my practice has been devoted almost exclusively to Chancery Court matters," said Randall. "I feel confident that my experience and expertise in this area qualifies me to serve as your Chancellor, an office demanding a compassionate understanding of the needs of individuals who come before the court and a thorough knowledge of the rapidly evolving law."

Randall attended Gulf Coast Military Academy and was graduated from Gulfport High School. He later attended USM and Millsaps, and received his law degree in 1968 from the Jackson School of Law.

A lifelong Gulf Coast resident, Randall has served as Special Master in Chancery Court, an appointed position. He and his wife Cheryl live in Gulfport.

Scianna to run for re-election to Bay council

Charles C. Scianna has announced his candidacy for re-election for Bay St. Louis city councilman, District One, in the May 2 Democratic primary.

Scianna, currently serving as interim councilman, is a lifelong resident of Bay St. Louis and a graduate of the Bay St. Louis public school system.

He was employed for 32 years with the U.S. Postal Service.

Scianna is married to the former Beverly Favre of Bay St. Louis. They are parents of five sons and four daughters and have 10 grandchildren.

A member of Our Lady of the Gulf Church, Scianna served as a school board member of Our Lady of the Gulf School and is a member of the Knights of Columbus and American Legion Post 139.

He was active with Boy Scouts of America as an assistant scoutmaster and assistant district commissioner for the Cypress District, New Orleans Area Council.

He has also served on the Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Commission.

"I will continue to cooperate with the mayor and other council members to give honest and efficient government to the city of Bay St. Louis," the candidate said.

"I thank the voters of District One for the great support given me in the January special election and I urge the residents of District One to again support and vote for me in the May 2 election."

Lott opens Gulfport office

Sen. Trent Lott has opened district offices in Gulfport, Columbus and Jackson, according to an office spokesman. "Serving the people's needs is what being a senator is all about," Lott said. "District offices allow us to be there when we are needed."

Lott's Gulfport office is located in the Federal Building, One Government Plaza, Room 428, Gulfport, MS 39501. The phone number is 863-1988.

Lott's Jackson office is located at 245 E. Capitol Street, Room 309, Jackson, MS 39205. It can be reached by dialing 965-4644.

The senator can be reached at his Washington office by writing to Senator Trent Lott, 487 Russell Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510. The phone number in Washington is (202) 224-6253.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The 26th annual St. Patrick's Day parade is scheduled to roll on the streets of Waveland Saturday. The parade forms on Waveland Avenue at Central Avenue prior to 2 p.m. and should have a large number of floats.

Participants in the parade always appear to have a good time. The event is sponsored by the Waveland Civic Association.

Jay Lagasse is the parade chariman. He has succeeded his late father, Jimmy Lagasse in that position.

Owen McArdle is the Grand Marshall for 1989 with Colleen Shantel Marie Douglas.

The parade will include floats, trucks, cars, bicycles, and groups of marchers.

Once again the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 77 will offer corned beef and cabbage dinners on Saturday from 11 a.m.

There will also be Irish stew, hot dogs and desserts served at the Legion home on Coleman Avenue.

Proceeds from the dinners will go towards the Auxiliary's special community projects.

We hope to see you at the parade.

A group of Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis merchants are also sponsoring a St. Patrick's Day Parade and Block Party on Sunday.

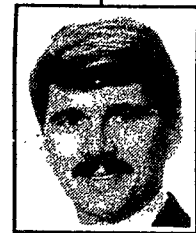

Music will be provided by the Speedo & Rocket 88's in the Municipal Parking Lot beginning at 1 p.m. The parking lot is located on Beach Boulevard between Main and Court Streets.

Corned beef & cabbage will also be available at the Bay St. Louis gathering.

Basketballs will be bouncing about in the Hancock North Central Gym on March 17 when the New Orleans Saints will vie with the HNC alumni.

The big event is sponsored by the HNC Band Boosters and should be a great game as several of the Saints football players will be involved in the fund-raising event.

The game is set to get underway at 7 p.m. and Saints players will be available after the game to sign autographs, according to Booster spokesman Richard Liles.

REPORT FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Gene Taylor

Senate bills will expand economic development

Legislation affecting economic development incentives and the Bonnet Carre freshwater diversion plan were passed by the Senate last week.

One economic development bill which we passed updates the Mississippi Business Investment Act which provides loans to municipalities and counties to assist them in securing investments by private companies locating or expanding in the state.

I successfully amended this bill to include $3 million in order to fund our state's share of the cost of the Mississippi and Louisiana Estuarine Areas Projects.

This project is designed to restore the natural balance of fresh and saltwater in the Mississippi Sound that was destroyed by the construction of the levees along the Mississippi River.

Since that time, the coastal marshes and the Sound have been deprived of the silt, nutrients and fresh water that used to flow across the marshes and into the Sound during periods of high water in the Mississippi River.

The project will retard the devastating effects of salt intrusion and the resulting coastal marsh loss that is threatening both commercial and recreational fishing in the Mississippi Sound.

The Corps of Engineers will divert freshwater through the Bonnet Carre Spillway into Lake Pontchartrain, Lake Borgne, and the Mississippi Sound. It is expected to annually increase Mississippi's oyster harvest by 1.9 million pounds (237,500 gallons), and at $28 per gallon will provide a $6.65 million boost to our economy in

Pete Johnson's party switch eyed by Democrats, Republicans

State Auditor Pete Johnson's on-again, off-again coming out party as a Republican is now scheduled for April 7 when National GOP Chairman Lee Atwater is slated to speak here at a Republican dinner.

Johnson insiders insist that the sandy haired 40-year old state official is going to keep a low profile in his maiden appearance at the Republican affair.

At least, there's no longer any doubt that Johnson, who comes from a long family line of prominent Mississippi Democrats, is going to make the party switch. This latest intelligence that Johnson will debut as a Republican at the Atwater visit replaces an earlier plan which called for a two-tier reception for Johnson on March 22.

That was to include a $100 per person soiree where local Republicans from around the state would get a chance to greet the party's prize catch, plus a small reception of Johnson intimates.

But evidently Johnson rejected what one Johnson spokesman said was a plan of some Mississippi GOP leaders to make a "big production" of his conversion. "He just wants to stand up by himself," said a Johnson spokesman.

But evidently Johnson rejected what one Johnson spokesman said was a plan of some Mississippi GOP leaders to make a "big production" of his conversion. "He just wants to stand up by himself," said a Johnson spokesman.

Still, the obvious question: Is the Mississippi Republican Party anointing Pete Johnson as its gubernatorial candidate in 1991? There are denials on both sides that any commitment was asked for or given.

We're real pleased to have a statewide elected official like Pete change parties, but we are not in a position to offer one thing to him if he wants to run for governor, and he did not ask for it," said Evelyn McPhail, state Republican chairman.

A Johnson insider voiced the same idea that there was no commitment "asked for or received" from well-heeled Republicans to bankroll any of Johnson's future political races.

Recently, Johnson piggy-backed on a Dick Morris poll made for Republican U.S. Sen. Trent Lott which was reported to have shown that 60 to 70 per cent of the people polled said it would make no difference to them if Johnson ran as a Republican.

Overall, said a Johnson aide, the poll showed the state auditor with a 90 per cent favorable rating in job performance. In Northeast Mississippi, where the Johnson name has always had strong political appeal, he had a 98 per cent job approval, the source said.

But some former devotees of the younger Johnson's grandfather, the late Gov. Paul B. Johnson Sr., and his uncle, the late Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr., are evidently embittered by Pete Johnson's abandonment of the Democratic Party.

"Pete owes us four years as a Democrat, since he was elected on the Democratic ticket," said Jackson attorney Frank Barber, a Democratic loyalist, who as a nine-year-old tyke had distributed campaign flyers for the senior Johnson in his 1939 winning gubernatorial campaign. Barber said he was "greatly disturbed that the grandson of Gov. Johnson, who was a strong Democrat and a good friend of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, is now going over to the Republican Party."

The 59-year-old attorney, who had helped to manage Paul Johnson Jr.'s 1955 and 1963 gubernatorial campaigns, charged that the younger Johnson "evidently is reading the last election returns and incorrectly thinks that is the wave of the future."

"Defectors never do very much in politics thereafter in Mississippi. Neither their new-found colleagues in the Republican Party will trust them, nor will the Democrats if you ever try to go back."

Some, however, see the Johnson conversion as a possible catalyst for bringing more Democrats over to the Republican ranks and could be a serious blow to the state Democratic Party.

"You'd be surprised to see the number of people - chancery clerks, circuit clerks and other county officials - who have come to talk to Pete about joining the Republican Party," said a Johnson aide.

Meantime, a persistent, although low-keyed, movement to lure more Democratic state legislators to switch parties is being waged by several Republicans in the Legislature. "I can see some converts in that legislative body," said Rep. Bill Denny of Jackson.

Clarification: In reference to last week's column on the new state public employees retirement law, there will be no penalty for retirement at age 55 for those with 25 years service.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Builder disputes 'nursing home' title

To the Editor:

In your paper yesterday you had an article entitled "Compretta pushes nursing home bill." May I correct the statement regarding Diamondhead?

For three years the builder of a "Life Care" or "Continual Care" Village has been negotiating with my husband (deceased Nov. 6) and I, with help from friends and the AARP group here. Mr. Compretta has been the power in Jackson, plus the governmental Affairs Liaison Officer of L.C.S.

In other words, since there was (is) a moratorium on building nursing homes we contend ours is not a nursing home. The residents have to be ambulatory at the time they buy their apartment and go into the CC units.

There are many of these lovely places throughout the USA and we have researched many. This conception has been inviting to those of us who have yards to keep and all the other demanding jobs of keeping a home after we've reached the golden years. Right?

We have been "fighting" the words nursing home, so I believe there was a misunderstanding when you wrote the article. Even though we will have a 40-bed wing, there will never be any Medicaid collected. Medicaid was what prompted the law against building nursing homes. Mississippi pays half of all Medicaid and they declared they had enough nursing homes because of the high cost of Medicaid.

Would appreciate it if you would retract this statement "Nursing Home in Diamondhead" as I've already had many phone calls. And—the word "in" may not be true.

The builders and Purcell Co. may not get together as Diamondhead may not have a plot big enough that hasn't already been platted. "As close as we can get" is what we'd all like so we can still enjoy the camaraderie here.

Hope you understand my concern and—our bill has to go through the Senate yet, so we are in close touch with Senator Taylor and trying to reach all the senators.

Sincerely,
Mrs. L. E. Grice Jr.

To the Editor,

I have recently read in the news that Pearl River College wants to drop the vo-tech center into the lap of the County School System. Maybe the parents and taxpayers who support the vo-tech center (and there are many) should start to consider some recent news events.

1. Pearl River College recently recognized the importance of vocational education in Hancock County. Just a few months ago they announced a half million dollar expansion project for the vo-tech center.

2. Hancock County School District selected a site for the new high school at Stennis Airpark.

3. Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission opposed the high school locating at Stennis Airpark.

4. Hancock County School District points out the need to be near the Pearl River Vo-tech Center at Stennis Airpark.

5. Port and Harbor Commission gives its millage to Pearl River College.

6. All of a sudden Pearl River College asked to pull out of the high school program. They now say they are losing money and do not belong in the high school business.

Where does this leave the

Jr. college vo-tech control needs to be addressed by supervisors

Dear Editor:

The education of our students in this area is very important to us. Our children need as much vocational training as we can give them.

Today's high-tech society does not always require a full-college education but does require some sort of vocational training.

If the Board of Supervisors stands back and allows Pearl River Community College to pull out their educational services in the area, our children will be losing what many people in our community have worked high school students in the Bay St. Louis and Hancock County School Districts? Why does Pearl River College all of a sudden want out? Maybe the Pearl River alumni in Hancock County will call Dr. Ted Alexander in Poplarville at 1-795-6801 and tell him how much we need and support vocational education in Hancock County.

Our Hancock County high school students need our support.

so hard to have provided for their children.

Can we afford to send our children out of town for vocational education that should be offered here locally? Families in this area strive hard to give their children better than they had.

So, is the Board of Supervisors going to give away what our county now has for training students vocationally and let our future lie in uneducated children's hands?

Sister praises skills brother learned at vo-tech

Dear Editor,

I am very concerned about Pearl River College closing the high school vo-tech program in Hancock County.

My brother attended classes as a high school student. We found the program to be very worthwhile and important to his future.

He went to state competition and won.

Now with the skills that he has learned in the buildings trades class he is hoping to build his own home.

As an adult I would be interested in taking college classes at the vo-tech center if Pearl River would offer a larger selection. In addition with talk of the vo-tech closing, my child's future to use this facility is very much in jeopardy.

Concerned for the future,
Melissa Strong

Writer's tribute read in Germany

To the Editor:

Here is an answer to my story paying tribute to Jerry Carver.

Who would have thought my tribute to Jerry Carver and Sea Coast Echo would end up in Germany?

I was so surprised to hear from Jerry's sister Cheryl Carver Yarborough from Germany with such warm praise for me.

Now she says she is going to put the tribute to Jerry on her living room wall.

Famous Bay native, sculptor Barthe' dies in Calif. at 88

BY D.C. HARVILL
World-renowned sculptor, artist and Bay St. Louis native Dr. Richmond "Jimmy" Barthe' died Monday, March 6, 1989, in Pasadena, California where he had been a resident for several years. He was 88.

Dr. Barthe', born in Bay St. Louis in 1901, gained world acclaim for his sculptures, many of them depictions of actors and actresses as famous theatrical characters, and religious figures.

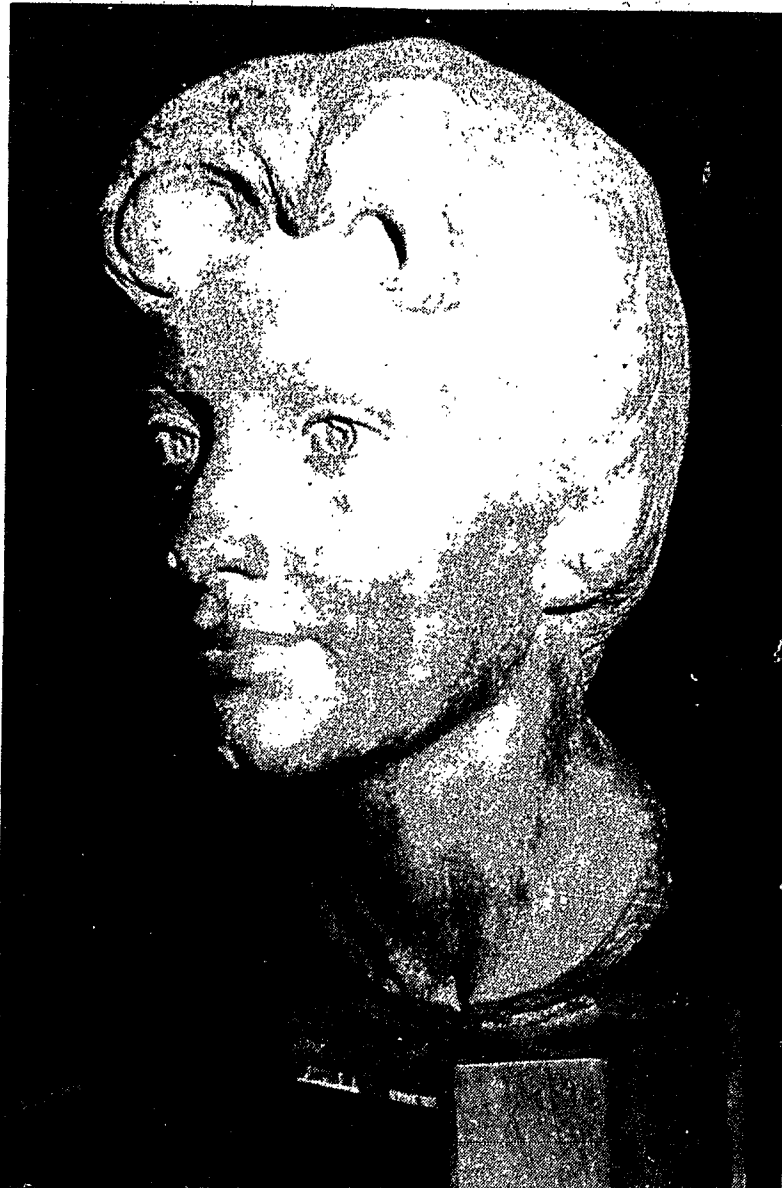

One critic is quoted as saying

Barthe' was capable of capturing human spirit in his work. His works are on display in museums and libraries around the country and the world, including the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Whitney Museum in New York.

Works by Barthe' also are included in numerous private collections.

One of his pieces, a bust of Mrs. Thelma Heller, the daughter of a former Bay St. Louis librarian, is on display at the Hancock County Library. Two pieces are in the University of Southern Mississippi Museum's collection in Hattiesburg. Barthe', who was taken out of school in the seventh grade at St. Rose Parochial School to help support his family, received an honorary doctorate degree from St. Francis College in 1947.

He also was the recipient of two prestigious Guggenheim Fellowships, two Julius Rosewald Fellowships, and had been honored by the American and National Academies of Arts and Letters.

In 1964 he was presented a key to the City of Bay St. Louis. Dr. Barthe' is survived by a brother, Louis Franklin of St. Albans, New York; three sisters, Mrs. Edna Wright of Houston, Mrs. Rita Wiggins of Oakland, California; and Mrs. Louise Williams of Bay St. Louis, widow of late Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams.

increased oyster sales alone. Additionally, it is expected to increase production of white shrimp, blue crabs, croaker, and menhaden.

The total project cost is $65 million. The federal government will contribute $50 million and Louisiana will contribute $12 million.

The bill also commits $2 million for loans for the establishment of business incubation centers as spin-offs to utilize the technology developed at the Technology Transfer Center at the Stennis Space Center. This is a tremendous opportunity for economic development here on our doorstep in Hancock County.

The bill also authorized an additional $25 million in bonds to be issued for economic development projects and allows 25 percent of that amount to be used for tourism, aquacultural and maricultural enterprises.

It further requires that the private and federal funds be three times as much as the state investment, an increase from the present two to one match ratio.

The bill also strengthens the law to continue to assure that the state does not suffer in the event a company receiving state funds decides to leave the state as did Boeing Military Airplane Co., which repaid some $12.5 million in state and local funds after closing its Greenville facility.

After more than three hours of debate, the Senate voted 23-23 to keep open the state's three charity hospitals located in Meridian, Laurel, and Vicksburg.

Neither I nor any member of the Senate liked the idea of closing the three small regional charity hospitals. However, it is the Legislature's duty to manage our state's resources in a way that provides the citizens of Mississippi the greatest service for the least cost.

In this case, the greatest benefit to our citizens would have been achieved by taking the $6.3 million that had been used to fund the three small regional hospitals and matching it with four times that amount in federal funds in order to expand the Medicaid program.

The additional $28 million that would come to our state as a result could be used to provide care for those who had used the charity hospitals and an additional 94,000 people in need of medical care statewide. In the three coastal counties, an additional 7,764 people who needed medical care but could not afford to pay for it would have been helped.

When you consider that the same $6.3 million of state money could help an additional 7,764 coastal citizens to needed health care and that only 26 people from the three coastal counties (6 from Hancock County) used the charity hospitals, I think that you will agree with my vote to close those hospitals.

Other bills acted on my the Senate during the week included:

*A bill that I voted for passed to exempt churches from paying a use tax on literature, video tapes and slides related to religious teaching purchased out-of-state.

*I voted for a bill to legalize, regulate and tax video card machines. It failed to pass the Senate.

*I helped to defeat a bill that would have imposed a six percent sales tax on interstate long distance telephone calls. Earlier in the week during a Senate Finance Committee meeting, I helped to defeat proposals to place a six percent sales tax on electricity, natural gas and water and to add an additional one-cent sales tax.

I would be glad to hear your comments on any legislation during the year, and you may write to me at the Mississippi State Senate, P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, Mississippi 3925 or call 359-3770 and I will return your call as soon as possible.

WAVELAND FIRE

A Waveland couple was able to escape from a burning residence Tuesday night because their smoke alarm sounded, investigators said.

Waveland Fire Chief David Garcia said the fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Barlow, 135 Vacation Lane, was reported at about 12:35 a.m., a few minutes after Mrs. Barlow went to a house across the street because the telephone at her home would not work.

A total of 16 firefighters, two trucks and one salvage and overhaul unit responded to the alarm.

Garcia said firefighters arrived at 12:41 a.m. and found the flames fully involved in the rear of the house, which contained a bedroom and bath. The fire was moving toward the front of the building.

Firefighters Jeff Garber and Gary Maurice made an interior attack through the front of the house while Ricky Fayard, Mike Smith and Eddie Bourgeois attacked from the rear, Garcia said. It took about 15 minutes to extinguish the flames.

Garcia and Hancock County Fire Marshal Jay Marsh were still investigating the circumstances of the fire on Wednesday, but Marsh said that a small electric heater in the den of the house was probably the cause of the blaze.

Garcia said the smoke detector that alerted the couple was located in a hallway between the two bedrooms.

However, Mrs. Barlow reported hearing a crackling noise before she heard the smoke alarm.

St. Patrick's Ball gala Waveland event

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The 23rd St. Patrick's Ball sponsored by the Waveland Civic Association was held Saturday at the American Legion home, Waveland.

The Waveland Civic Association was founded in 1964, with the first St. Patrick's Day parade being that year, but the first ball was not held until 1967.

Owen J. McArdle Sr. was announced as the 1989 Grand Marshall, by Randolph Bourgeois, emcee.

Randolph said, "McArdle was selected to receive the honor because of the dedication he has shown working for the programs of the Waveland Civic Association and community."

McArdle, a Waveland resident, formerly of New Orleans, is retired from the Olivetti Corporation and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The grand marshal is active in several organizations such as the American Legion Post 77, Waveland; Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3252, Bay St. Louis; and Disabled American Veterans Chapter 10, New Orleans.

He is an active volunteer in R.S.V.P. working with the Meals on Wheels, and Project Grandpa.

The association's selection for 1989 Colleen was Shantel Marie Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Douglas Jr. of Metairie, La., was presented by Lawrence Freeman, association president.

She is a junior at St. Mary's Dominican High School where she is a three-year member of the band, vice president of the junior class, a three-year member and co-captain of the Jesuit High School Flag Line and is a member of the New Orleans Junior Achievement.

Freeman also introduced the organization's officers and committee chairman.

Eulice Duhon, 1988 Grand Marshall and Therissa Gagnon, 1988 Colleen were introduced along with several special guests at the ball.

Ten maids were named and introduced for the 1989 festivities. They were:

—Jennifer Brignac, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Brignac of Pass Christian. She is a sophomore at Hancock North Central High School, class secretary and varsity cheerleader. Her interests include drawing and horseback riding.

—Tammy Bergeron, daughter of Mrs. Judy Bergeron of Waveland and Mrs. Tommy Bergeron of Bay St. Louis. She is a junior at Bay Senior High School, member of the band, and serves as the band's secretary/treasurer and is a member of the French Club, Spanish Club and Prom committee. Her hobbies include sewing, drawing and painting.

—Anne Marie Borja, daughter of Mr. Herman Borja and Mrs. Edith Borja of Pass Christian. She is a sophomore at Our Lady Academy, and class secretary for two years. She sailed for the Long Beach Yacht Club at the Junior Liptons and is attending Tennis Camp at Southern Louisiana University. Her interests include drawing, and she enjoys working with small children.

—Jamie Gallagher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Gallagher of Waveland. She is a junior at Bay Senior High School, member of the French Club and Spanish Club, has won several science awards and is a member of the Prom committee. She is employed at a movie theater and enjoys socializing with her friends, talking on the telephone and watching TV.

—Michelle Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bakis of Bay St. Louis. She is a sophomore at Bay Senior High School, member of the French Club school band. Her interests include tennis, soccer and swimming.

—Allison McArthur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Marsh of Waveland. She is a junior at Bay Senior High School, is interested in psychology, works in the Kids Against Drugs Program, and works to promote better understanding between teenagers and their peers. Her interests include soccer and socializing with her friends and family.

—Elisha Annette Sterling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sterling of Waveland. She is a senior at Bay Senior High School, secretary of the Business Club, Bay High Show choir and a teacher's assistant in typing and marketing. She has taken dancing for 11 years, is a vocalist and enjoys singing solo or in duets in competition. She also enjoys bowling.

—Jennifer Marie Fonseca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Monk of Metairie, La. She is a senior at Archbishop Chapelle High, received the Presidential Award for Academic Achievement while attending the International School of Douala in Cameroon, West Africa. She enjoys working with children and this summer will attend summer camp as a counselor for disabled children.

—Cindy Kay Quick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Pearson of Bay St. Louis. She is a junior at Bay Senior High School, captain of the dance team and is a member of the Show choir, the French Club and Prom committee. Her interests include jazz dance.

—Jennifer Lee Dagnall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dagnall of Bay St. Louis. She is a sophomore at Our Lady Academy, an honor roll student, yearbook photographer, art editor of Literary Magazine, track, soccer and cross country team member. Her outside activities include recreational soccer, the American Heart Association and Lakeshore Riding Club.

Bay-Waveland Garden Club to tour Honey Island Swamp

The regular monthly meeting of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club will not be held today due to the planned tour of Honey Island Swamp, hosted by Mrs. Meg Hilliker.

The tour leaves from Waveland Resort Inn on Hwy. 90 today at 12:30 p.m. Members and guests anticipate a delightful afternoon. Mrs. Hilliker and her committee will serve refreshments.

The next regular meeting of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club will be at the Garden Center, 114 Leonhard Ave., Bay St. Louis on Thursday, April 14. Mrs. Rene de Montluzin, club member, will present a slide show on castles, gardens, and centuries of history in Bavaria and Austria.

The Pilgrimage for the Bay-Waveland area is on Apr. 6. The Bay-Waveland Garden Club invites all residents, friends, guests to stop by the Garden Center for brochures, view a mini flower show, and partake of refreshments before visiting the homes on tour.

Hostesses will be available to answer questions and give directions, if necessary.

Pass Christian Garden Club

Mrs. Arnold Kietzer, horticulturist, National Flower Show judge and ARS Consulting Rosarian, was the guest speaker at the March 2 meeting of the Pass Christian Garden Club.

She spoke on the proper way to enter a plant, branch specimens, cut roses and other flowers in the horticultural exhibit at the annual flower show.

Mrs. K. Zach Anthony, Pilgrimage chairman, reminded members of the 42nd annual Spring Pilgrimage March 27-31. March 30 will be the date for the Pilgrimage in Pass Christian. Brochures were given out on all the information of the Pilgrimage.

Several old beautiful homes, plus many other places of interest will be open to the public for visitation.

Meeting concluded with refreshments served by hostesses Mrs. K. Zach Anthony, Mrs. Don Costa and their co-hostesses. Next business meeting will be April 6 at 11 a.m. in the Hancock Civic Center.

EARLY MAMMOGRAPHY AND BREAST SELF-EXAM BENEFITS
Monday, March 13 / NOON

Early detection is the KEY to success in the battle against breast cancer. Mammograms can detect tumors up to three years before they can be found by a physical exam. Along with mammography, breast self examination (BSE) is of vital importance. Early detection gives you a choice between major surgery (mastectomy) or minor surgery (lumpectomy). Free information on the mammography procedure and classes on BSE, taught by a trained nurse, are offered in this session. The Breast Diagnostic Center at SMH offers routine baseline mammograms for $59 (includes Radiologist's Professional Fee). THIS EDUCATION IS A MUST FOR WOMEN OF ALL AGES.

COPING WITH EVERYDAY STRESS
Betsy Harnden, CSAC
(SMH Certified Substance Abuse Counselor)
Tuesday, March 14 / NOON

Stress is vital to life itself as it enables us to respond to danger and to get a "second wind" when necessary. When not reduced or released, common daily stress can cause discomfort, pain, and physical illness. Discover and enjoy some attitudes and techniques for discharging daily stress. You'll leave feeling fresh as a daisy.

GIRL TALK: ADOLESCENT GYNECOLOGY
Dr. Ouita Morgan
Tuesday, March 21 / 7 PM

Girls at the ages of 9-13 are encountering physical and emotional changes which result in interest in their personal development. The physical aspects of development vary from one girl to another and some changes are normal and should not cause concern. Dr. Morgan, a retired physician with special training in adolescent gynecology will present the stages of development so women of ALL ages are familiar with "GROWING UP".

point."

The disorganization that occurred during the year Cannon was in office caused a number of difficulties. A number of assistant district attorneys were assigned to Hancock County.

"It seemed as soon as one got familiar with Hancock County, he'd resign (from Cannon's staff) and we'd get another one," Metzler explained.

Due to improper procedures in reconvening a Grand Jury, Circuit Judge James Thomas quashed a number of indictments. Some had to be redone more than once.

Since Thomas' ruling, court officials have been working to get things reorganized. "Hancock County is in better shape than any other county in the district as far as criminal cases and the docket are concerned," Metzler said.

"I have to give a lot of the credit for that to DeWitt Allred, the assistant district attorney who came in under Cannon," she said.

"He has worked hard, taught himself and stayed with us. That's taken a lot of hard work."

She also stated that if she is given any opportunity to do so, she will encourage Meadows to keep Allred on the staff.

She hopes the interim, and the transition under whoever is elected, will be smooth.

"I'd like to see us get some positive feeling back into the district about the judicial system," Metzler commented. "There has been so much ill feeling and so much negative attention."

Bay businesses host St. Patrick's events

BY D.C. HARVILL

St. Patrick's Day is not until March 17, but a group of Bay St. Louis businesses is hosting the Second Annual St. Patrick's Day Festivities Sunday to celebrate the occasion.

The festivities will include a parade and a block party, both scheduled to begin at 1 p.m.

The parade will roll from the old A & P Supermarket parking lot down Dunbar to Main Street.

It will then travel down Main to Beach Boulevard and disband after passing the site of the block party.

The public is invited to participate in the parade either as riders on floats provided by the sponsors or on private floats, according to Ernie Bechemeyer of The Good Life Lounge, one of the sponsors.

Tickets are required for those riding on the sponsors' floats at $7 per person. Green beer is included in the ticket price.

Two other businesses, Dan B. Murphy's Bar and The First Precinct Restaurant and Lounge, also are sponsors of the events.

Speed-O and the Rocket 88's will provide music for both the Irish and the Irish-for-a-day block parties from 1 p.m. until

For more information contact Ernie Bechemeyer at 467-9037.

Meadows takes office

BY DENA BISNETTE

Joseph R. Meadows, the new district attorney for Hancock, Harrison and Stone counties, took office Wednesday.

Meadows, 53, is a native of Meridian who graduated from Quitman High School, University of Mississippi School of Business and University of Mississippi School of Law.

Until his appointment by the governor Tuesday, he had practiced law with the Gulfport firm of Meadows, Riley and Koenen since 1965. He plans to return to that practice after the winner of a Nov. 7 special election succeeds him as district attorney.

Meadows is a former Mississippi Bar Association president who will be remembered by Hancock countians as the speaker at the swearing-in ceremony for the late J. Ruble Griffin two years ago, when Griffin took office as a Mississippi Supreme Court justice.

The new district attorney is married to Carole Lynn Wilson, formerly of Lucedale, with two children, Joseph R. Meadows Jr. and the late Kathryn Lynn Meadows.

He is active in a number of civic and church organizations, including First Baptist Church of Gulfport, where he serves as a Sunday school teacher; Masonic order; Shriners; board of directors for the Pine Burr Area, Boy Scouts of America; and Gulfport Yacht Club.

His professional memberships include Harrison County Bar Association, Mississippi Bar Association, American Bar Association, Lamar Order at University of Mississippi School of Law and Mississippi Trial Lawyers Association.

Meadows has served in one elected office, representing Clark County in the Mississippi legislature from 1960 to 1964.

He has served as adjunct professor and guest lecturer at University of Mississippi School of Law and guest lecturer for the ethics class at Mississippi College Law School.

In addition, he has published and delivered two papers to the Mississippi Trial Lawyers Association.

He has also served on a number of state and national bar association committees and as a member of the board of governors for the state bar association.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

As I write this column on a rather chilly morning, while gazing out at the lowering sky, there's a goodly chunk of beef simmering in the big soup pot atop the stove.

You may know it as "boiled beef" or "soup meat" or as the "beef bouilli" (boiled beef) of those ingenious Creole and Cajun cooks who have so many ways of dealing with a chunk of brisket or other cut of less expensive meat, along with the leftovers.

At time, I just cook the brisket, browning it well and seasoning it, then placing it in a big pot and pouring boiling water over to cover it (as it's my belief that cold water toughens the meat) along with several Irish potatoes, a celery rib or so, and carrots and onions. At other times, I go the whole meat-vegetable route with cabbage and all that. In any case, after we enjoy the soup, we serve the meat along with horseradish sauce—but there's more to come.

Perhaps the next day or so, you may want to make a "soup meat pie." That's easy—just cut the meat into cubes or small chunks, use some of the stock to make a roux of sorts, add some bell (green) pepper or onion pieces, and pour into a baking dish. Top with short biscuits or pastry dough and bake for 20 minutes or so.

Soup meat hash is also tasty, served with grits and hot buttered biscuits. And, one of my favorite ways to serve leftover soup meat is:

SOUP MEAT SALAD

I don't think that I've ever come across this recipe in cookbooks; it's rather one of those old Creole-Cajun dishes which are just taken for granted around the kitchen!

It's a simple and easy recipe, its proportions varying, of course, in accordance with what you have on hand and the number you want to serve. You'll need:

2 cups cooked soup meat, cut into small cubes or diced

1 cup chopped cold, boiled Irish potatoes

1 small onion, diced

2 green onions, diced

1/2 cup mayonnaise, approximately—not too much of this

2 chopped hard-cooked eggs

Pepper, salt, to your taste

Generous splashes of hot pepper sauce (Tabasco)

Mix all well together, and serve in lettuce-lined bowl. At times, I garnish with tomato slices or quartered tomatoes, and at other times I like to add a dash of olive oil and just a suggestion of wine vinegar to the mixture as I'm blending it all together. (Four to six servings)

GOOD FOOD BUYS

Lower fat meat cuts are heart-healthy choices

The health and fitness trend has caused consumers to take a greater interest in the nutritional value of the foods they eat. One way manufacturers and grocers convey this information is through data displayed right at the retail meat counter.

Although this type of data has been shown to change consumer attitudes toward certain foods, does the display of nutritional information translate into identifiable changes in food purchases?

To help answer this question, a cooperative nutrition awareness study is being conducted by the National Cancer Institute, the National Livestock and Meat Board and Giant Foods, Inc. to measure the effects of nutritional information communicated directly to consumers at the supermarket.

The pilot study began with a series of consumer focus groups, which concentrated on determining consumer attitudes toward product identification and nutrition information.

Participants discussed the type and amount of nutrition information they required, and the best way to provide this information.

New signs, product stickers, store videos, recipe cards and meat guides were produced to incorporate information gathered during focus group sessions.

At 20 test stores in metropolitan Washington, D.C., meat counters display "lower fat cut" signs which recommend cuts of meat with comparatively low fat content; post shelf stickers with fat, nutrient and caloric information; and make available recipe cards and cooking guides, which promote the health benefits of choosing and preparing lower fat cuts of red meat.

By getting highly visible and recognizable nutrition information to shoppers before they buy, the National Cancer Institute, National Livestock and Meat Board and Giant Foods hope to affect consumer purchasing behavior by influencing consumers to make healthy food choices.

These choices help consumers take positive steps toward lowering their serum cholesterol levels while improving the nutrient composition of their diets.

The Washington test will compare computerized food sales data and consumer survey information with data from stores without new materials.

This retail point-of-purchase study is one way the meat industry works with major health organizations and food marketers to serve as a primary source of information on the health attributes of meat.

A favorite dish this time of year is beef stew. Try this "light" version and notice the comparison between it and the old fashioned stew.

LIGHT BEEF STEW

(Save 419 calories and 73% less fat; yields 6 servings)

1 1/2 lb. Top Round Steak cut into 1 1/2 inch cubes

2 med. onions, coarsley

chopped

1 cup red wine

4 cups beef broth, preferred

low sodium

1 clove garlic, finely chopped

1 tbs. parsley, finely chopped

1 bay leaf

1/2 tsp. dried thyme leaves

1/2 tsp. coarsley ground black pepper

6 medium potatoes

6 medium carrots
10 small white onions
3 stalks celery
3 medium green peppers
1-8 oz. can whole tomatoes—less salt salt-free seasoning to taste arrowroot

Over medium heat, brown meat cubes in 1/4 cup beef stock turning all sides. Remove and set aside. In a dutch oven, with stock, saute chopped onions until tender.

Combine meat and onions with beef stock, wine, garlic, parsley, bay leaf, thyme and pepper.

Cover; simmer until just tender. Prepare vegetables. Peel potatoes and carrots; halve.

Peel onions, cut celery in 3 inch sections.

Remove seeds and ribs from peppers; cut in chunks. Cut canned tomatoes. When meat has cooked, add potatoes, carrots, onions and celery.

Cook until meat and vegetables are tender. Towards the end of cooking time, add peppers and tomatoes. Gravy may be thin. If desired, thicken with 1 tbs. plus 1 tsp. of arrowroot blended slowly in gravy.

Stir and add before boiling. Do not overcook. Add your favorite salt-free seasoning to taste.

Yarborough appointed to fill Bay school board vacancy

BY D.C. HARVILL

An insurance company sales representative, described as "very level-headed," was appointed to the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board Tuesday night.

Gary Yarborough, 34, was approved by the Bay St. Louis City Council to fill a vacancy left when Betty Diboll's second 5-year term expired at the end of February.

Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr. recommended Yarborough to represent the city on the board after the council voted down his first candidate, Lana Noonan.

Ward Three Councilman Charles Johnson moved that Yarborough be accepted to the position and it was seconded by Ward One Councilman Charles Scianna. The motion passed unanimously before a full board.

Yarborough is a sales representative with Metropolitan Life Insurance and president of the North Bay Elementary Parent, Teacher Organization. He has a degree in banking and finance from the University of Southern Mississippi.

He and his wife, the former Evelyn Murtagh, have three children.

"Gary is very level-headed and has been active in school affairs. I think his business background is ideally suited to the kinds of decisions the school board has to make, especially in terms of the current building program and the upcoming budget. He should be able to give a good, balanced view," Frankiewicz said.

"It came as a bit of a surprise to me," Yarborough said Wednesday afternoon, "I have an interest in the community and in the kids. The community has been good to me and maybe this is an opportunity for me to do something for it."

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board's next meeting is 7 p.m. Monday.

POLLWORKER TRAINING

The Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee has scheduled four classes for prospective pollworkers. The classes are part of the preparations for the April 4 primary and all prospective pollworkers are required to attend one of the sessions.

The first is scheduled for March 22 at Hancock North Central School. The other three are being offered at Gulfview Elementary School in Lakeshore on March 23, Diamondhead Community Center on March 24 and Hancock County Courthouse on March 27.

All of the classes begin at 7 p.m.

Special rules to govern Circuit Court election

BY DENA BISNETTE

The primaries for two judicial elections have been set for April 4, but the manner in which one of the elections will be conducted will be new to voters.

Charles Gottschalk, a member of the Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee and former election commissioner who is assisting in the election, said the special election for Circuit Court judges is not being conducted according to the usual rules.

Gottschalk explained that a federal court has determined how the judges will be chosen.

"A couple of years ago, the election was held in abeyance by a federal judge up in the Delta and the judges we have now have been serving past the end of their terms," he said.

The current Circuit judges, Kosta N. Vlahos, James E. Thomas and Jerry O. Terry, are on the Democratic ballot with Dale Robinson. Vlahos and Thomas are running for re-election. Terry was appointed to succeed the late Vincent Sherry.

Gottschalk said voters will be instructed to select one, two or three of the candidates.

The candidates with the three highest vote totals will go into the June 20th election with the only Republican candidate for the job, William Frisbie.

The top three in that election will become the new Circuit Court judges for District Two, which includes Hancock, Harrison and Stone counties.

The Eighth Chancery Court District judge primary will be conducted under normal procedures, Gottschalk said.

Running for Place One are Theresa McLaughlin and William L. "Bill" Stewart, while the Place Two candidates are Jason

H. Floyd Jr. and Bobby Joe Randall; J.S. "Johnny" Morris and J.N. Randall Jr. are running for the Democratic nomination in Place Three.

Rev. Walsh to conduct Annunciation Parish mission

The Rev. Austin Walsh ST will present a three-day mission on the 'Foundations of the

REV. AUSTIN WALSH

Christian Life' at Annunciation Church, Kiln on Wednesday, March 15 through Friday, March 17 each evening at 7 p.m. Each morning, Father Walsh will celebrate Mass at 8 a.m. with homilies reinforcing the mission theme.

Father Walsh is a Missionary Servant of the Most Holy Trinity. A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., he entered the Missionary Servants of the Most Holy Trinity in 1958 and was ordained a priest in 1965.

After graduate studies in theology at the Catholic University of America and graduate studies in counseling at Loyola University, Chicago, he was assigned to education work with seminarians on the high school and college level.

Annunciation presents musical meditation

"Change Our Hearts," a musical meditation on the events of the first Holy Week and what these events can tell us about Jesus, about humankind, and about ourselves, will be presented by the musical group "Spirit" on Sunday, March 12 at 3 p.m. in Annunciation Church, Kiln.

REV. ALBERT PARKER

Parker to assume ministry in Wiggins

The Rev. Albert M. Parker Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Parker Sr. of Bay St. Louis will be installed as pastor of New Welcome Baptist Church in Wiggins on Sunday, March 12 in a 3 p.m. ceremony.

The Rev. Lawrence Collins Sr. of Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church in Gulfport will be guest speaker.

Rev. Parker is a 1970 graduate of Bay Senior High School. He attended First Missionary Baptist Church while a resident of Bay St. Louis.

He enlisted in the Marine Corps following graduation and was stationed at Riverside, Calif. It was there that he acknowledged his calling to the ministry and was ordained at St. John Baptist Church in Santa Ana, Calif. in 1974, where he served as associate minister.

He continued his ministry at Victory Baptist Church in Las Vegas, Nev. prior to returning to the Gulf Coast.

He is married to Rose Parker and the couple has three children.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend the ceremony.

ST. ANN CHURCH

A thought for meditation from our pastor, Father Justin Furmin, ST.

What holds us to God? It is love.

What a wonderful thing is the Catholic Church—grouping together all people who love under every part of God's heaven, every corner of the earth, different races, different nationalities, people with contradictory interests—all super-managed and harmonized in the love of God. This is the rule—to do unto another, as we deal with another, so he will deal with us. If we want His mercy, we must be merciful to our neighbor. If we want His pity, we must pity our neighbor. If we want His forgiveness, we must forgive our brother.

—Father Thomas A. Judge, ST

Father Justin wishes to extend his thanks and appreciation to everyone "for the gracious welcome extended to me."

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Williams, CYO adult advisors, will be accompanying members of St. Ann-St. John CYO to their convention to be held this weekend at the Royal d'Iberville Hotel in Biloxi. Good luck!

Accident prompts renewal of request for Hwy. 607 work

BY DENA BISNETTE

Another accident near the intersection of highways 607 and 90 has prompted the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to again seek assistance from Southern District Highway Commissioner Ronald Shows.

The one-vehicle accident occurred at about 11:30 p.m. Saturday on a curve in Highway 607 just south of the intersection, Lt. Bobby Underwood of the Mississippi Highway Patrol said.

A report by State Trooper Darryl Deschamp, who was at the scene, indicated that the driver, Robert C. Brock of West Monroe, La., lost control of the vehicle, possibly on a wet road.

Brock and a passenger, Paula McCormick of Gulfport, were both injured and were taken to Memorial Hospital at Gulfport by Mobile Medic Ambulance Service.

Hearing about the accident prompted Hancock County Board of Supervisors President Ronald Cuevas, a Pearlinton resident, to ask the board at its Monday meeting to contact Shows again.

The intersection was one of several areas the board discussed with Shows at a January workshop meeting.

According to Cuevas, the area has been the site of numerous injuries and at least five fatalities within the past 10 years.

The structure of Highway 607 includes a sharp curve to the north just before the access to 90. At the spot where the old highway was located prior to the four-laning of 90, there is an old culvert and a steep ditch.

The grade is so steep that two of the fatalities were drownings that occurred when a vehicle missed the intersection and fell into the water-filled ditch, Cuevas told Shows.

One of the suggestions county officials made was that the ditch be covered or filled in, with a culvert for drainage.

The board president said cars that miss the curve hit the old culvert and go over it into the ditch.

The area is also not lighted, he said.

Correction of the problem was part of a "shopping list" given to the highway commissioner, but the board has as yet received no report on the results of a planned inspection of the problem.

ILLEGAL NETS—Bureau of Marine Resources Enforcement Officers W.J. Chataginer, left, and Billy Moon sort fish from three illegally set, unattended gill nets found in the Jourdan River at about 2:30 p.m. Monday. The fish in the nets included three striped bass, one freshwater catfish, two small flounder and an assortment of mullet and sheepshead. Chataginer said no arrests were made, but about 750 feet of netting and the fish in it were seized after a concerned fisherman telephoned the bureau offices. The nets were a few miles inside the boundaries where gill netting is not legal, and they were not marked with the required identification so no arrests are expected. Anyone who has information about illegal gill netting or other violations may call the bureau office in Biloxi at 385-5860 or the Hancock County Sheriff's Department at 467-5101. March proclaimed Forest Fire Prevention Month

Governor Ray Mabus has proclaimed the month of March as Forest Fire Prevention Month in Mississippi.

The proclamation points out that the state's nearly 17 million acres of timberland contribute greatly to both the econ-ic and environmental health of the Magnolia State.

"Forest resources provide Mississippi with jobs and income, tax revenues, wood products, energy, fuel, cleaner air, recreational opportunities and ideal habitat for many forms of wildlife, while slowing the loss of our soil due to erosion, and insuring a good storehouse of clean water," the document reads.

Over 200,000 acres of Mississippi timberland was damaged or destroyed by wildfires during the 1988 fiscal year, costing millions.

Houses, barns and other real property also went up in flames during the extreme drought of 1988, according to Mississippi Forestry Commission records.

County Forester Mark Jamieson hailed the governor's proclamation wildfire prevention. "We had some real bad fire days in the county last spring," Jamieson said. "Maybe a strong public awareness effort will help remind folks to be more careful this year."

Jamieson said 276 wildfires burned 4,430 acres in Hancock County last year. Last month Hancock County crews suppressed 73 fires that scorched 491 acres of woodlands.

Reforestation is a very important phase of the forestry Commission's goal. The trees we plant now will play an important part to our county and state economy in the future, as well as providing an enriched environment for everyone to enjoy.

The protection of these young trees, and older trees planted in years past, is another important task of the Forestry Commission.

Please help us by being extra careful with debris or trash burning during the gusty month of March. If you see a wildfire, quickly report it to Hancock County Fire Tower. The number is 255-7152.

Together we can insure a safe home and healthy future for the thousands of newly planted seedlings in Hancock County.

TIMBERLINE

By Mark Jamieson
County Forester

Tree planting is big business in Mississippi. Last year, over 347,000 acres of private and public lands were planted throughout our state, setting a new state record.

This year we've once again been busy helping landowners with tree planting. As of March 1, over 378,000 seedlings have been planted in Hancock County. This progress can be attributed to several factors: generally, good planting weather; hard work by Forestry Commission and vendor crews.

The planting season usually runs from January through March. We lost several valuable planting days in February, due to the inclement weather, so we must take advantage of every planting day remaining in March.

Time lost fighting wildfires caused by a dry and windy March could cause serious problems for our tree planting

Lakeshore artist exhibits at Waveland Library

Clive Whitcombe has mounted his first art exhibit at the Waveland Public Library. The exhibit will be on display until March 31.

Whitcombe studied art in Australia before turning to music. Along with music, Whitcombe also had an ongoing apprenticeship and career in engineering.

He brought his family to the U.S. in 1953 and lived in New York for many years where he pursued the dual careers of music and engineering.

After a stint at Bell Aerospace in New Orleans in 1975, he worked as a machine designer and builder for a New Orleans fabrication company. During this period Whitcombe bought land in Lakeshore as a retirement property.

After retiring, Whitcombe turned gain to painting and studied at the Patricia Whitty Art Academy in Slidell, where he received a great deal of encouragement.

This showing represents the first generation of his work. He would like to continue to explore the unique quality of life and scenery in Mississippi which he feels greatly resembles Australia in its characteristics.

LIBRARY EXHIBIT—Clive Whitcombe of Lakeshore is standing by one of his paintings which will be on display at the Waveland Public Library through March 31. The Australian native brought his family to the United States in 1953.

Health tips for savvy seniors offered by dietician, economist

March is National Nutrition Month. The previously scheduled program for Hancock Medical Center's March Family Health Focus has been changed from March 9 to March 20.

To observe nutrition this month, HMC and the Hancock County Extension Service will host "Health Issues for Savvy Seniors."

This program will be presented at the regular monthly meeting of the Hancock County AARP, 10 a.m., March 20 at the American Legion Hall Post 77 on Coleman Avenue.

Jamie Rodenbough, Hancock

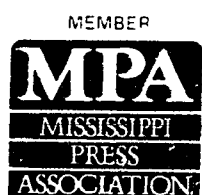

Medical Center consulting dietician, and Darlene Underwood, Hancock County home economist will be featured speakers for this program.

They will discuss basic nutrition for senior adults including how to cope with a high fiber, low cholesterol, low sodium diet; controlling adult-onset diabetes; and how to sensibly control weight.

Also included will be tips on food preparation and quantity storage, as well as entree recipes for one and two people. The public is invited to attend the program.

The American Association of Retired Persons Hancock County Chapter No. 1114 is open to anyone age 50 and up, or the spouse of any member, regardless of age.

For more information about the program or about joining the AARP, call Donald Maufrey, president at 467-6352.

SECTION B

SHAUN VIGUERIE

Pearlington resident to head wild turkey conservation group

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Shaun Viguerie of Pearlington hunts turkeys. He is also dedicated to keeping their numbers plentiful in Mississippi and across the nation.

He was recently elected president of the National Wild Turkey Federation Inc., a 50,000-member conservation group at their 13th annual convention in Nashville, Tenn.

The NWTf is a national non-profit conservation education organization founded in 1973 and dedicated to the restoration and management of the American wild turkey.

The group is responsible for "one of the greatest comeback wildlife management success stories" in replenishing the number of wild turkeys to an estimated 3.8 million, according to Viguerie.

NWTF raises funds for use by state wildlife agencies for approved wild turkey research and management projects, and promotes public education on the subject.

The restocking of turkeys is accomplished by catching them in nets and transporting them to safe environments, such as private land tracts, to allow them to perpetuate.

Viguerie reports that there are several turkey hunters in Hancock and Pearl River counties, with Devil's Swamp being a popular hunting site.

There are 275 state and local

NWTF chapters in 44 states.

Viguerie is a two-term national director of the group. He was appointed to his first three-year term on the board in 1985 and was reappointed in 1988, when he was also elected vice president.

He has served on the executive, finance and nominating committees, and was 1988 chairman of the membership committee.

For more information, contact the NWTF Wild Turkey

Center, P. O. Box 530, Edgefield, S.C. 29824-0530 or call (800) THE NWTF. Membership dues for the organization are $30 a year, which includes a magazine subscription, free turkey calls and other lagniappe, according to Viguerie.

Wild turkey season to open March 18

Mississippi's first spring turkey season opens Saturday, March 18 and continues through Apr. 3. The second season opens Apr. 5 and ends May 1.

In view of Mississippi's growing population of Eastern wild turkeys, hunters should expect an excellent spring season, according to Department of Wildlife Conservation biologists. The weather, they say, is about the only unknown factor.

Last year, well over 60,000 hunters harvested almost 60,000 gobblers during both spring seasons.

This spring, gobbler hunting will be permitted on 31 state wildlife management areas and national wildlife refuges. In addition, hunting will be allowed on many National Forest lands.

Hunting hours for turkey are one-half hour before sunrise until one-half hour after sunset.

The bag limit is two gobblers per season, but not more than three during the license year.

The following counties or portions of counties are closed for spring gobbler-only hunting: Alcorn, Benton, Hinds, Humphreys, Itawamba, Lee, Madison, Marshall, Pontotoc, Prentiss, Quitman, Tallahatchie, Tippah, Tishomingo and Union.

Meanwhile, state wildlife officials are encouraging hunters to practice safety during their times afield this spring.

"Turkey hunting ranks as perhaps our most dangerous shooting sport," Hunter Education Supervisor L. J. Smith said.

"It is sad to say, but most turkey hunting accidents happen when one shooter mistakes another for a wild turkey."

Smith said that by its very nature, turkey hunting requires hunters to carefully camouflage themselves so as to be unnoticed by a sharp-eyed gobbler.

"This just makes it even more important that hunters be absolutely certain of their target before they shoot, and that they know where their hunting companions are in the woods," Smith advised.

Hunter safety figures show that there have been about 100 shooting accidents each year for the last five years involving turkey hunters.

Enforcement officials at the Department of Wildlife are reminding hunters that they must have a valid hunting license signed and on their person before going to the woods.

They say that hunting turkeys over bait and/or with dogs, live decoys, or electrically operated calling or sound reproducing devices is prohibited.

BWYC hosts Sunfish Mid-Winter races

Special to the Echo
By Bishop Stieffel

The largest assembly of Sunfish in a decade met at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Feb. 25 and 26 for the 1989 Gulf Coast Sunfish Mid-Winters.

The Sunfish is a 13 ft. boat designed for one person. Easy to sail and transport along with being inexpensive, it was to be mainly for pleasure, but it has evolved into a very popular racing boat as well.

Saturday morning brought pleasant three-to-five-knot breezes and temperatures in the mid 40's. Almost as if it were planned, Corky Hadden exploded into a 50-yard lead in the first race with none other than Hank Saurage following another 50 in front of the rest of the fleet. Not only did Hadden win Race 1, he also went on to lead at every mark in Race 2 only to fall behind Sam Hopkins of Gulfport in the last few feet.

In Race 3, Paul-Jon Patin, a Tulane student from Long Island, finally found what he needed to best the fleet in a dying westerly, winning it, but he needed to contend with previous finishes of 13 and 8. Hadden fell to 5th in Race 3, while Hopkins managed to move into first overall at the day's end.

Sunday introduced a new light to much of the fleet that appeared to be losing hope. A stiff 12-15 knots and flat water smiled on the heavy air sailors, but not quite enough to do much damage to the top five.

Hadden's barrage on Saturday was just enough to keep him alive in the top five, but nowhere near the consistency of Hopkins.

Local Peter Merrifield staged a mid series threat that earned him second place overall. Patin got things cranking again in the 4th race with a first place start but less than 30 seconds later he capsized and turned out another eighth while watching Hopkins and Merrifield put enough distance on him that a first and second couldn't overcome.

The wind seemed to have more of an effect on the juniors, with John-Watson Galloway of Gulfport blowing away the fleet for two races in the light weather on Saturday, while Charles Melville of Pensacola took over the reigns in the heavier breeze on Sunday. Melville opened up with two bullets of his own Sunday morning, moving him into first.

The race committee was forced to postpone the start of Race 5 temporarily because of Linn Montjoy's heroic efforts. Montjoy dove into the bitter February waters to help another competitor who had capsized; he then went on to win the race.

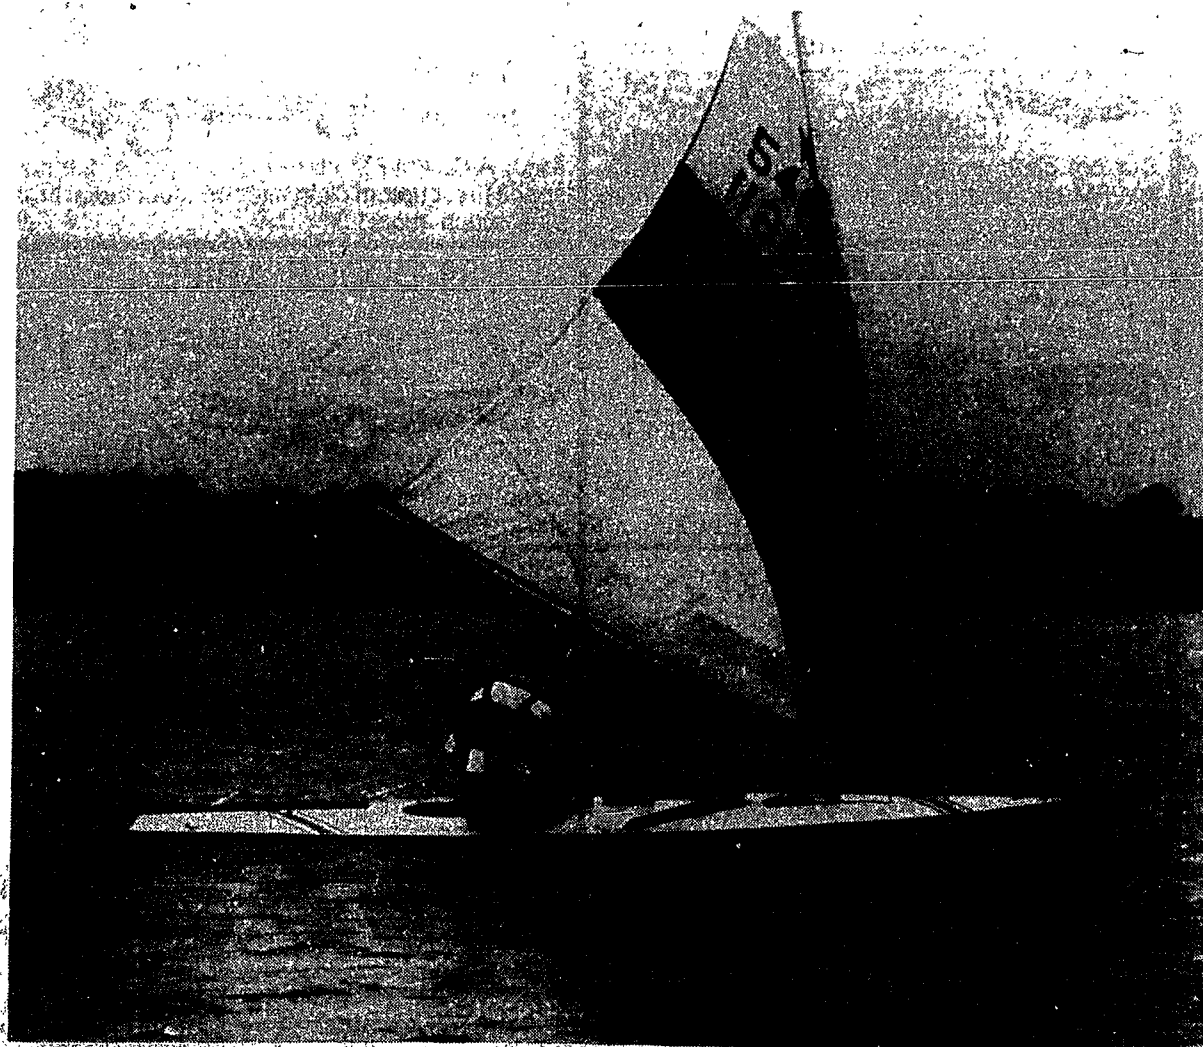

Local Wayne Murphy never took the lead overall, but in winning the last race, he managed to grab second for the series.

Awards were presented to the top five of each class and daily firsts. Keepsakes were presented to the Race Committee Chairman Edgar Santa Cruz, Dave Bolyard, owner of West Wind Sails of Mandeville, for furnishing most of the awards; and to Pete Morrill who somehow managed to fill the positions of markset, pinset, rescue boat, chase boat, photography boat, and spectator boat at one time!

Brooks, Watson, Guice brothers named to Olympic Development teams

BY JANET MCQUEEN
Hinds Community College recently hosted weekend training sessions for two of Mississippi's Olympic Development Soccer teams.

The 14½ and 17½ teams are vying for selection to represent

Mississippi at the Region III Camp at the University of Southern Florida in June. Region III Olympic Development Coach Horst Bertl conducted the training exercises. A native of West Germany, Bertl currently resides in Dallas.

He has played professionally and coached the Memphis American soccer team, now the Memphis Storm of the American Indoor Soccer League.

The 14½ team will attend a tournament in Alabama in early June and the 17½ team will participate in an intercollegiate tournament in Phoenix in mid-April.

Coast players on the 14½ team are Damian Bruni of Gulfport, Nathan Guice of Biloxi, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Guice III and an eighth grade student at Coast Episcopal; and Richard Watson of Waveland, son of Rosalyn Watson and an eighth grade student at Bay Junior High School.

Local members of the 17½ team include Brian Brooks of Bay St. Louis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Brooks and a sophomore at St. Stanislaus High School. He is on the varsity soccer team at SSC and plays for the Slidell Sonics select team.

Coast Episcopal High School junior Billy Guice is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Guice III of Biloxi. He is a member of the CEHS Raider soccer team and the South Mississippi Soccer Club.

Rhodes named to Coca-Cola All-Star state soccer team

Teams for the Seventh Annual Coca-Cola All-Star Soccer Team were announced by the Mississippi Association of Coaches, directors of the game. This year's game will be played on Saturday, July 15 at 7:30 p.m. in Clinton at Mississippi College's Robinson-Hale Stadium.

Heading up the South Team is Ron Baer of Brandon, whose Bulldogs recently captured the first state championship in soccer. Co-coach with Baer will be Tom Wright of Forest Hill, Jackson.

Leading the North Team will be Lucy Young of Warren Central (Vicksburg), who was state runnerup to Brandon; the North co-coach will be Danny Porter of Tupelo.

Named to the South Team was Douglas Rhodes of Bay St. Louis, sweeper. Rhodes is a senior at Bay High School and the son of Billy Rhodes of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Joyce Wade, also of Bay St. Louis.

He has been a member of the soccer team and was on the All-District Team for two years.

NAZI ERRORS

Fifty years after the beginning of World War II, historians are still sorting out the course of the war's events. Did the Allied Forces really defeat the Nazi war machine, or did Hitler defeat himself?

"How Hitler Lost the War" at 9 p.m., Thursday, March 9, on Mississippi ETV, talks with leading historians and prominent veterans who contend that Hitler had lost the war in Europe before America entered the conflict.

PRC lights up field

The future is bright for Pearl River Community College's baseball team, especially when the Wildcats are entertaining guests.

In the off-season the school added lights to the Wildcat Diamond, where the team is scheduled to host 14 opponents this season, including a stretch of six straight home appearances between March 11 and 17.

With all home contests scheduled as double headers set to begin at 3 p.m., Jim Nightengale, the team's head coach, said he hopes more people will be able to attend the games. But, he added there is another, and more important, advantage to playing late games.

He said by starting the games at 3 p.m. rather than 1 p.m., as they were in past seasons, the players do not have to miss as much class time.

Pearl River signs Rhodes, Robertson, Doyle

Although the 1988 season has been over for several months and the 1989 season is still a long way off, Tuesday was a big day for the Pearl River Community College football squad.

Hackbarth, a 6-2, 180-pound quarterback, and Greg Touchstone, a 5-11, 210-pound linebacker.

Poplarville had two players sign, Bryant Fairley, a 6-foot, 205-pound full back, and Rod-

Kenneth Marshall, a 6-4, 305-pound defensive lineman, and Christopher Lumpkin, a 6-foot, 180-pound defensive back, from Franklin, La.

Michael Toefield, a 5-11, 210-pound running back; and

cock North Central senior Ronald Doyle Jr. and Bay Senior High School seniors Dewayne Robertson and Douglas Rhodes.

At a special dinner Tuesday, Mike Nelson, PRC's head coach announced the names of the 27 players who have signed scholarships with the school for next fall.

The event marked the end of what was a busier recruiting schedule than Nelson and his staff had anticipated.

Nelson said that with the number of freshmen he had on his roster at the end of the regular season, he thought he would only need to sign from 10 to 15 players.

But, dropouts, grade and discipline problems reduced the number of returning players, leaving Nelson and his staff to scramble for talent in a junior college district which was being heavily recruited by four-year schools.

Nelson said there may have been as many as 30 athletes taken by four-year programs from the district covered by PRC.

As it was, almost 150 high school players came to Pearl River for tryouts, and from that group, Nelson said he has gathered an outstanding group of players, including five all-state players and one of the most highly recruited players from this area, Martin Wright, a 6-6 305-pound defensive lineman from Hattiesburg High.

Dexter Thomas, a 5-10, 230 defensive lineman, is another signee from Hattiesburg High. Signees from Bassfield are Eric Thompson, a 6-foot, 165-pound wide out, and Bourbon Womack, a 5-10, 220-pound running back.

Douglas W. Rhodes, a 5-9, 170-pound defensive back, and Dwayne Robertson, a 6-4, 225-pound defensive end, are two former Bay St. Louis players.

Former Columbia Academy player Jason Cox, a 5-11, 190-pound full back also signed. Joining the team from East Marion are Floyd Cagins, a 6-foot, 170-pound defensive back, and James Waller, a 6-1, 230-pound center.

Two Forrest County AHS players signed are James Lewis, a 5-8, 165-pound running back, and Rene Suarez, a 6-2, 215-pound offensive lineman/kicker.

Hancock North Central standout Ronald Doyle Jr., a 6-foot, 190-pound running back/linebacker, also joined the squad.

Lumberton quarterback Charles Williams, 6-foot, 195 pounds, was signed along with North Forrest's Curties A. Vickers, a 6-2, 218-pound tight end/defensive end.

Oak Grove contributed Mel

ney McDonald, a 6-1, 190-pound linebacker.

Prentiss chipped in with Dyo-win Collins, a 5-9, 165-pound cornerback.

Fitzgerald West of Booker T.

Washington in New Orleans;

Cedric Anderson, a 5-11, 185-pound fullback, from Independence, La.; Mark Dugas, a 6-foot, 190-pound defensive back from St. Martinville, La.; and Mike Crowe, a 6-3, 215-pound defensive end from Stone Mountain, Ga.

Falcons, Hurricanes win soccer District Playoffs division slots

Bay Area Youth Soccer has now completed over three-fourths of the spring season.

After seven weeks of league competition, two teams in the Under-10 and Under-12 divisions have won their division and the position to be number one of the two teams from their division to go to District Playoffs.

The Under-10 Rotary Falcons, coached by Richard Flowers, have won the Under-10 Boys Division, and the Under-12 Hurricanes, coached by Ronnie LaFontaine, have won the Under-12 Boys Division.

The remaining teams must now battle it out to determine the other team in each division to go to District Playoffs to be held in April. The Under-8 Sweepers are leading their division, undefeated, however, they are still one game out of being declared the division winner.

Under-12

In Under-12, the Hurricanes, sponsored by the Bay-Waveland Jaycees, defeated McDonald Realty 2-1 in Saturday afternoon competition. The game was an exciting, fast-paced game by both teams. McDonald Realty continues to hold second place in their division.

"This was one of our best team efforts," said Hurricane Coach Ronnie LaFontaine. "Several starters have been out with injuries, and the flu bug has also taken its toll. Despite missing these key players, the team pulled together for the win. Scoring one goal each were Tim Kingston and Wali Shabazz.

The Hurricanes close out the regular season on Saturday, March 11 in a game against the Burger King Whoppers. The Hurricanes will represent the Bay-Waveland Jaycees in the Gulf Coast Invitational Tournament in Gulf Breeze, Fla. on March 17, 18 and 19.

Under-10

In Under-10 play, Coach Richard Flowers' Rotary Falcons defeated Coach Jerry Peoples' Bad Blues team by a score of 6-3, in a thrilling game played by both teams.

ward Jason Chiniche scored the remaining goal.

Half-backs Michael Flowers and Beau Develle were cited as most valuable defensive players and forward David Flowers was named most valuable offensive player for the game.

Coming from behind 3-1, the Falcons scored five goals in the second half to win the game and to extend their record to 6-0.

Coach Flowers congratulated the Falcons for excellent team play in the second half. He also complimented the Bad Blues for their fine aggressive play in the game.

The Bay Rats defeated the Hurricanes in a close game that ended in a 2-1 victory. The Bay Rats are now tied with the Jaguars for second place this season.

Jeffrey Cicerchi and Kile Foster scored the Bay Rat Goals. Coach Foster cited Chris Gibson for an excellent all-around effort.

Under-8

In Under-8 play, Coach Steve Carver's Sweepers defeated the Chargers by a score of 5-0. Ronnie Vanney scored two goals, Steve Peterman scored two goals and Gus McKay scored one goal.

Good offense was played by Jerry Taylor, Raymond Estapa and Ben Barnes.

Good defense was played by Donnie Shiel, Chris Genin and Dusty Carver.

Coach Ross' Raiders defeated the Wildcats by a score of 3-0.

Coach Carron's Tornados defeated the Stingers by a score of 3-1. Goals were scored by Mathew Manix, Justin Purcell and Chris Carron.

Under-14

In Under-14 Boys competition, Coach Bernard Tusa's Sidekicks defeated Coach Ross' Excalibur team by a score of 2-1.

Both goals for the Sidekicks were scored by Joe Dobson in this exciting competition.

There is high rivalry between these two teams and the intense zeal and fiery excitement of each team's fans promises an explosive atmosphere for the final game of three between these two teams to be held this Saturday at 10:15 a.m. at the seminary field.

Junior tennis competition March 18-19

A Junior Tennis Singles Tournament for boys and girls will be hosted at Diamondhead Tennis World March 18-19.

The event is open to players in five age brackets, from age 10-18.

Entry fee is $12.00 per person and the deadline for registration is Tuesday, March 14 at 5 p.m. The competition is sanctioned by the United States Tennis Association.

For additional information, call Lis Lagarde at 255-2525, extension 300.

Bay High Tigers beat East Central, lose to Mercy Cross, Vancleave

Bay St. Louis 9, East Central 5

Vancleave 8, Bay St. Louis 3

The Tigers lost their first game Saturday morning by five runs, which was no indication of how well the team played. Base hits were made by Dave Weems, Kyle LaFontaine and Scott Rogers; Charles Mitchell was losing pitcher.

Mercy Cross 7, Bay St. Louis 3

The Tigers lost to Mercy Cross in the second game of the day. They played a good ballgame with good pitching from

Will Seymour and Charles Mitchell.

Seymour pitched the first two innings giving up only two runs.

Charles Mitchell took over in the third and shut down Mercy Cross.

In the bottom of the third, Scott Rogers led off with the first hit single. Scott Barnes hit a single that put two men on when David Weems got a base on ball. Doug Power was hit by a pitch and scored Rogers from third.

Darrell Murphy hit a long flyball to center which scored Barnes from third.

In the bottom of the third, it was a 2-2 ballgame.

In the top of the fifth, Mercy Cross scored one run with no more runs scored until the bottom of the seventh.

Scott Barnes got on base with an error on the third basemen.

David Weems got on base with a fielder's choice. Doug Bower hit a double down first base line and scored Weems. Darrell Murphy hit a fly ball to left field. Thomas Brink lined out to the second baseman, putting them in to an extra inning.

In the top of the ninth, Mercy Cross came back to score four unanswered runs against the Tigers to end the game, 7-3.

SSC baseball team defeats Picayune, ties Biloxi

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaw varsity baseball team opened its season last Tuesday by playing 5A State Champion Biloxi to a 2-2 tie, and defeated Picayune 8-4 on Friday afternoon.

the contest because of darkness. "We are lucky to get out of here with a tie," said Biloxi coach Chuck Butler. "We worked hard to prepare for St. Stanislaus. We know they would be tough, and we didn't want to be five Biloxi batters and allowed only two hits, but no earned runs. SSC collected four hits off the Biloxi pitchers, and scored one earned run.

Scott Heitzmann hit a solo homerun for SSC in the bottom of the first inning.

"I'm pleased with our performance, particularly on defense. Shortstop Marc Matherne made several diving stops on hard-hit grounders," said Coach Gemelli.

"I know Biloxi wanted this game badly. I called Coach Butler's house the night before our game, and his wife said he was still out on the practice field taking batting practice."

SSC BEATS PICAYUNE

Against Picayune, the Rocks earned an 8-4 victory. Bert Dean was the winning pitcher, going 4 1/3 innings.

Lloyd Nicaud came in the final 12/3 innings, and threw 15 strikes in 17 pitches. Nicaud also had three hits and five RBIs for the Rock-A-Chaws.

The Rock-A-Chaws had eight hits in the contest, while Picayune had four hits.

SSC exploded for four runs in the bottom of the first inning, and followed with two runs in the second inning and two runs in the third inning.

The contest was called after five innings due to darkness.

Today the Rock-A-Chaws resume action when they travel to Gulfport to play the Gulfport Admirals at Herbert Wilson Field off Courthouse Road. The junior varsity contest begins at 4:30, followed by the varsity at 7 p.m.

PITCHER CEDRIC SMITH

"Our chances of having a great season rest on the shoulders of our seniors," said SSC coach Mike Gemelli. "In our opening two ballgames, the team showed good signs of leadership, team hustle, and the desire to win, which is what I expect of them."

The Rock-A-Chaws looked impressive against Biloxi, and led 2-1 going into the last inning.

Biloxi scored the tying run when pinch hitter Mike Green walked and eventually advanced to third on two sacrifice bunts.

Leadoff hitter Billy Gore's grounder to shortstop Marc Matherne could not be handled in time, and Biloxi knotted the score at 2-2.

St. Stanislaus had a golden opportunity to win the game in the bottom of the 7th inning when Kevin Jacobi walked, and Mick Quinlan singled to right field in a hit-and-run play, advancing Jacobi to third base with one out.

SSC could not capitalize on the situation, as leadoff hitter Greg Schuff struck out after fouling off four pitches, and pitcher Cedric Smith popped up to the shortstop to end the inning.

Umpires with the agreement of both coaches, decided to call embarrassed like last year. SSC defeated Biloxi 10-3 in the season opener last year.

Pitching was the strong suit in this ballgame, as left-hander David Marsland struck out eight batters in five innings, while relief pitcher Jeremie Hopkins struck out five hitters in two innings.

For St. Stanislaus, junior pitcher Cedric Smith struck out

Labat, Cromwell, Murray take tennis titles

Three championship trophies came home to this area after the dust had settled at the Mississippi Tennis Association's Junior Tennis Tournament held in Pascagoula this past weekend.

Myron Labat of Bay St. Louis reached the finals of the Boys' 14-and-under Division by posting straight-sets wins over Craig Michaud of Ocean Springs (6-0, 6-0) and Trent Maxey, also of Ocean Springs (6-1, 6-0).

In the grudge match championship round, Labat avenged a 1986 loss to Adam Shemper of Hattiesburg by cruising to an easy 6-0, 6-1 victory.

Mike Cromwell of Pass Christian also posted straight-set wins over Patrick Seals (6-4, 7-5) and John David (6-0, 6-3) en route to the Boys' 18-and-under Division Championship. Both Seals and David are from Ocean Springs.

Kellie Murray of Bay St. Louis captured the championship of the Round-Robin event in the Girls' 12-and-under Division by virtue of a 6-3, 6-0 victory over Kimberly Blakesly of Gulfport.

Both Labat and Cromwell are members of the 1989 St. Stanislaus High School varsity tennis team. Murray is a student at St. Clare Elementary in Waveland. All three players will again enter tournament competition on April 18 and 19 at the Diamondhead Tennis World junior tournament.

PRCC ball players net post-season honors

Pearl River Community College had four men's basketball players receive post-season honors.

Wendell Carter, a 6-5 sophomore from Atlanta, Ga., was selected to play on the South All-Star team and was named as a member of the second team all-state unit.

Carter averaged 17.8 points and 6.7 rebounds per game during the season for the Wildcats.

Andrew Neely, a 6-8 freshman from Atlanta, was also named to the second-team all-state unit, while Raymond Nash, a 6-6 freshman from St. Amant, La., and Alonzo Ward, a 6-2 freshman from Booklyn, received all-state honorable mention picks.

Neely averaged 17.2 points per game and 9.1 rebounds for the Cats. Nash scoring average and Ward scored 9.3 points per contest.

LADY WILDCATS

Two Pearl River Community College Lady Wildcats have been named to the women's All-Region 23 team.

Antrice McGill, a 6-2 sophomore from Picayune, and Chariz Silas, a 5-11 freshman from Hattiesburg, were both selected for the post-season honor.

Silas averaged 20.1 points and 7.1 rebounds per game for the Lady Cats, and scored a season-high 36 points against Jones.

McGill, who was also an All-State and All-South selection, led the team with 26 points per game, and pulled down almost nine rebounds per outing.

This year's Mississippi All-Star game will be played April 6 at Jones Junior College.

Bass Assn. tournament to begin

Little Dixie Bass Association begins its 1989 tournament season March 19 in Pascagoula. This is the first of six qualifying dates on the mini-circuit, which culminates with the State Championship Oct. 21.

The dates are as follows:

Mar. 19, Pascagoula River, Pascagoula;

Apr. 23, Pearl River, Pearlinton;

May 28, Bogahoma Lake, Laurel;

June 25, Tombigbee River, Coffeeville, Ala.

July 23, Jourdan River, Waveland;

Aug. 20, Pascagoula River, Pascagoula;

Sept. 17, Semi-Finals (Top 20) to be announced

Oct. 21, State Championship (Top 5) to be announced

The tournaments carry cash prizes and trophies for the top ten finishers, with additional prizes awarded to the Bass Angler of the Year, the Top 20 Anglers of the Season, and to the top finishers in the State Championship.

"We're excited about this season," said Ray Roberts, director of Little Dixie, "because it's certainly our biggest circuit yet."

Membership in Little Dixie Bass Association is $20 per year, which includes a cap, lure pack, and invitation to the tournaments. The entry fee for each tournament is $50. For additional information, contact Ray Roberts, Director, 603 N.E. 1st Street, Magee, MS 39111.

2020 plans

Group is working for a better Mississippi

BY D.C. HARVILL

Baseball may be called the American pastime; a more appropriate national hobby, however, might be fault-finding.

One thing Americans seem to agree on is that "things" are not what they should be. They may not agree on which problems are most important, or even what the problems are, but they all know "things" could be better.

Pointing fingers is easy. Offering viable remedies for society's ills and taking an active role in affecting change is not.

A group that held its "spring gathering" at Gulfside Methodist Assembly in Waveland Saturday hopes to prod Mississippians into becoming active participants in creating a better Mississippi.

Mississippi 2020 Network, a fledgling organization that began in Jackson in 1985 hopes to accomplish this colossal task not by merely pointing fingers but, through action, proving positive changes can take place.

"In 1985 we came to the realization that the reason changes don't happen more quickly in Mississippi is because it has great reservoirs of talent that hasn't been organized. So we started a network to help find ways to enhance Mississippi's progress, not just by telling people what the problems are but by showing them that something can be done," said Bob Kochtitskey, founder of the network.

Two local couples, Bruce and Joanne Northridge of Waveland and James and Margaret Inabinet of Dedeaux, hosted the gathering and hope to establish a local chapter of 2020. About 25 people were in attendance.

According to literature distributed by the organization, 2020 is a "network of ordinary, caring, Mississippi people who are convinced we can create a higher quality of life in our state."

"We believe our future is dependent on the ordinary citizen's will, imagination and commitment, not on Toyota plants or massive government funds or experts remote from our lives. Working cooperatively, ordinary citizens can shape a the larger society."

Among the group's concerns are: irresponsible use of the

for developing a way of life that sustains the earth, the literature says, because, "if we continue to abuse the earth and environment there won't be any need to worry about the human species."

Secondly, Mississippi must "exhibit more cooperative community self reliance and provide justice for all, celebrating our valuable diversity as a people and enabling the basic physical and spiritual needs" of every person.

Because its members see many of society's shortcomings as being interconnected, whether violence in inner cities, destruction of wildlife habitat, litter, poor education or the threat of nuclear war, the network serves as a point of connection for other groups who are working in specific areas of concern.

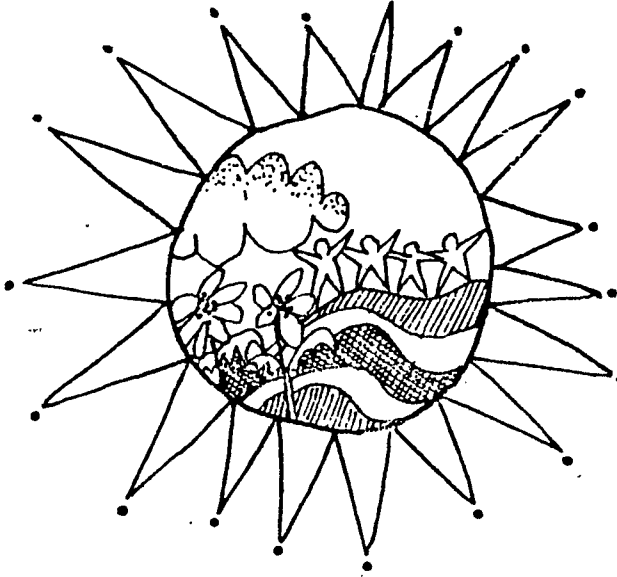

Acknowledging that political entities are integral to, and often serve to perpetuate, the problems of today's world, the organization professes the philosophy of the Greens, a pro-ecology, anti-violence political movement that is gaining increasing popularity in Europe and has recently been transplanted to America.

Representing the Greens at the gathering, John Clark, a philosophy professor with Loyola University in New Orleans, described the movement as having an "holistic view" and "a comprehensive approach to things."

The environmental group Sierra Club; another relatively young group, Educators for Social Responsibility and the peace movement Pax Christi were among other groups presented at the gathering.

The local group is in the planning stages. Among the projects being discussed are a recycling program, and adopt a highway project and an education program. Monthly meetings are planned, to be held at the Northridges home in Waveland. For more information call 467-0908 or write to Joanne Northridge, 209 Arlington, Waveland, Ms 39576.

quality future—if they choose to invest their will, imagination and commitment for the sake of environment and inequities in social justice.

The first step forward calls

Greens propose more caring approach to politics, life

BY D.C. HARVILL

An international, anti-violence, pro-ecology political movement, whose philosophies sound like the answer to President Bush's wish for a more caring nation, was presented to a gathering at Gulfside Methodist Assembly in Waveland Saturday.

Green activist and Loyola University professor John Clark, speaking at the spring gathering of Mississippi 2020 Network, a state-wide organization with members in Hancock County, outlined the movement's views and goals for a group of about 25 people Saturday.

The Green movement began in Europe among people who realized that the prevailing militaristic, industrial and environmentally unsound attitudes of society must be abandoned, because they can only lead to the destruction of earth's diversity, including man-kind, according to Clark.

The movement is founded on 10 Key Points, condensed versions of which are:

1. Ecological Wisdom—humans must realize they are a part of nature not separate from it and to survive they must assume an attitude of respect for fellow life forms and stop abusing the environment.

2. Decentralization—enable people, institutions and communities to do more for themselves and encourage regional cultures.

3. Grassroots Democracy—encourage people to be active participants in their own government and decisions making processes that affect their lives.

4. Global Responsibility—assume a non-violent, tolerant attitude toward other nations and help them to become more self-sufficient.

5. Cooperative Economics—establish work ethics that are more freeing, humane and ecological, integrating jobs and lives at a more meaningful level.

6. Inclusiveness—include everyone, regardless of age, sex or race, in social and government processes, enabling them to better help themselves.

7. Post-Patriarchal Values—replace attitudes of dominance with ones that are more caring and respectful toward all peoples and all other living things.

8. Personal and Social Responsibility—encourage people to assume more healthy lifestyles and to solve interpersonal conflicts without having to resort to violence or relying on power systems, such as courts.

9. Non-Violence—develop alternatives to violence on all levels, from personal to international, and non-violently oppose practices and policies that promote violence.

10. Future Focus—induce people and institutions to think in terms of long-range future, not merely in terms of short-range goals.

"It's not an electoral movement...I think we need that but we need more. To me it has to be a kind of cultural movement and a spiritual movement, because it is about people's values, so I think the Greens should be in state legislature, they should be everywhere, but the important work is done on the local level," Clark said.

HEALTHNOTES

Contributed by Hancock Medical Center

In any medical emergency, it is essential to act both quickly and correctly. Unfortunately, in a state of panic we may not always make the correct judgement.

So what do we do if someone near us is accidentally poisoned? The University of Mississippi Medical Center Poison Service offers a few treatment and prevention tips which can help save lives.

First, it is important to know the signs of poisoning. These may include the following:

- * stains, burns or odor on clothes or skin
- * unusual odor on breath
- * sudden changes in behavior
- * drugs or chemicals opened and/or out of place
- * vomiting, dizziness, stomach pains, convulsions, unconsciousness, rapid breathing, drowsiness

If any of these conditions are present, you should call the Poison Control Center or your physician immediately with the following information: age of patient, your name and phone number, name of the product ingested and its ingredients, the amount involved, time of poisoning and any symptoms.

The poison center or your physician will give you instructions on what to do next. It is important to know how to give first aid if a poisoning occurs. The center suggests always having syrup of ipecac on hand—one ounce for every child in your household.

This is to induce vomiting, but should only be administered if directed by a physician—not all poison substances should be regurgitated. Syrup of ipecac is available at local drug stores without a prescription.

When you suspect poisoning, it is important to keep the person quiet and immediately find out what was taken and how much.

If poisoning occurs, emergency action should be taken immediately. The Poison Center offers the following list of treatments and recommends it be posted where you can easily see it.

Swallowed poison

1. Give milk or water immediately unless patient is unconscious, having convulsions or cannot swallow.

2. Call Poison Control Center: 601-354-7660.

3. CAUTION! Antidote labels may be wrong. Do not give salt, vinegar or citrus juices.

Inhaled poison

1. Immediately get the person to fresh air.

2. Open the doors and windows wide.

3. Call Poison Control Center.

Poison on the skin

1. Remove contaminated clothing and flood skin with water for 10 minutes. Then wash gently with soap and water and rinse.

2. Call Poison Control Center.

Poison in the eye

1. Flood the eye with lukewarm (not hot) water poured from a large glass two or three inches from the eye. Repeat for 15 minutes. Have patient blink as much as possible while flooding the eye. Do not force the eyelid open.

2. Call Poison Control Center.

Of course, the best action to take against poisoning is preventative and there are many ways to protect your family. Listed below are a few safety suggestions from the Poison Services Center.

* Store all non-food products in their original containers; never transfer to a container which normally holds food or drink.

* Keep household cleaners, pesticides and medicines stored in separate cabinets so you won't accidentally use the wrong product; never store non-edibles with food.

* Potential poisons (including alcohol, medicine and cigarettes) should be kept in high, locked cabinets; never keep them in easily accessible places such as on counters.

* Mark all products which are poisonous; make sure your children understand that the marking means poison.

* Use cleaning fluids and aerosols only when there is adequate ventilation; avoid breathing the vapors.

* Use only lead-free paint and buy only lead-free painted toys

* Never refer to medicine as candy.

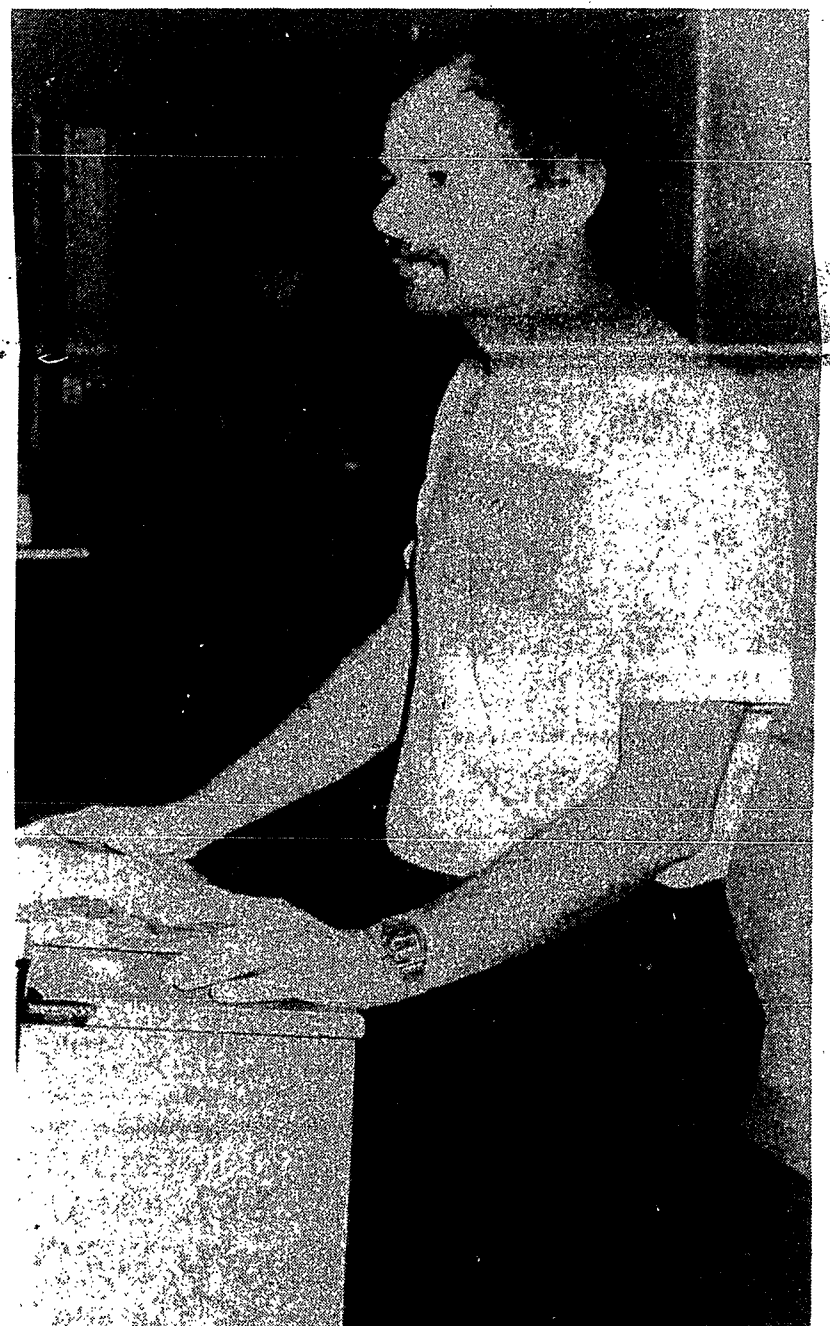

* Avoid taking medicine in front of children because they like to imitate adults.

* Never take another person's medicine.

* Never place rodent or insect baits where children or pets can get at them, and never put poison in foods as bait.

It is important to poison proof your home and make it as safe as possible. Be certain phone numbers of both the Poison Services Center and your local hospital emergency room are posted clearly near your phone.

For more information about poison control, or to acquire brochures from the Poison Services Center, you may call the center at 1-354-7660 or Hancock Medical Center at 467-9081.

Hancock, Pass librarians attend children's literature workshop

Local librarians Janie Ripoll, Sandra Ladner and Karen Peoples joined librarians from throughout South Mississippi recently for a two-day workshop on children's literature hosted by the Jackson-George Regional Library System.

The workshop, held at the system's Pascagoula headquarters library, was led by noted educator Dr. Coleen Salley, professor of library science at University of New Orleans.

"It was a wonderful program. I just wished it could have gone on longer," said Ladner, branch manager of the Kiln branch of the Hancock County Library System.

The 22 librarians, representing 20 libraries and five regional library systems, were unanimous in their praise of the program which covered the full spectrum of children's literature.

Mary Ann Louviere, JGRL youth services coordinator and workshop organizer, said the program was designed not only to increase the awareness of quality children's literature but to help librarians develop confidence in selecting and presenting materials for use in their own Story Hour programs.

"Our library system is committed to continued training and education for all our staff," Louviere said. "To be a top quality youth services librarian you have to have more than just a love of children and books."

"Dr. Salley's broad knowledge of not only the literature and its history, but of how best to present it to children of all ages, will make all of us better at our jobs."

"I'm just happy we are able to share a program of this quality with our neighboring library systems," Louviere said.

Karen Peoples, Waveland Public Library branch manager, found Dr. Salley's comments on the various styles employed by writers most helpful.

"She helped me gain a greater appreciation for the poetry of some authors. I had always known I enjoyed certain authors more than others but I hadn't realized why until this workshop," Peoples said.

Other local residents attending the workshop included Sally James and Linda McArthur of Pass Christian Public Library.

Nancy Wood, a noted southwestern poet/photographer/novelist, will speak at Pinocote, the native plant center of the Crosby Arboretum, Picayune, on March 18 at 2:30 p.m.

Her subject will be 'Taos Pueblo; A Spiritual Journey.' Her presentation will include readings from her poetic works. A question and answer period will follow.

Nancy Wood is the author of more than a dozen books, most of them set in the Southwest. Sue has been intimately involved with Taos Pueblo since 1961 and has written four books about them.

Her latest work, 'Taos Pueblo,' contains 110 of her own black and white photographs and 35,000 words of text.

The book is remarkable in that Ms. Wood is the first photographer ever permitted to make a record of daily Pueblo life. She has worked since 1983 with three and four generations of the same families, achieving a rare degree of intimacy. Alfred A. Knopf will publish 'Taos Pueblo' in June.

Ms. Wood's experiences with

Taos Pueblo elders changed her life as she began to focus her beliefs on the natural world and the interdependence of all living things.

A deep reverence and mysticism characterizes her work, but she does not fall into the popular trap of idealizing her subjects.

"Indians are people with a complex yet simple belief system," she says. "To them, everything is a mystery."

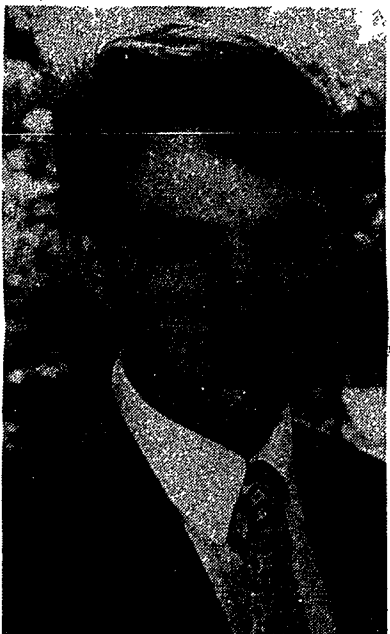

Her work reveals this sensitivity to a subject that has been off limits to anthropologists as well as photographers for more than a century. Her access to Taos Pueblo is indication of her acceptance by the tribe.

Nancy Wood was nominated for a Pulitzer Prize in music in 1977 for an Indian libretto, 'War Cry On a Prayer Feather.' In 1987, she was awarded a literature fellowship from the National Endowment for the Arts. She makes her home in Taos.

The Crosby Arboretum is located at 1801 Goodyear Boulevard in Picayune.

Admission, financial aid seminars slated at Jeff Davis Campus

An admissions and financial aid seminar will be hosted by Gulf Coast Community College on its Jefferson Davis Campus at 7 p.m. on Thursday, March 30 in the fine arts auditorium.

The purpose of the seminar is to discuss with prospective students the new admissions and financial aid requirements for the fall semester beginning in August.

High school juniors, seniors and their parents are invited, even if the students do not plan to attend GCCC. Adults beginning college for the first time, or former students returning in the fall, also are urged to participate.

For additional information, contact the Student Services department at 896-3355, extensions 153 and 132.

Archives, history dept. offers guide to railroad records

The Register of the Columbus and Greenville Railway Company Records, 1906-1971, a guide to the collection of the company's records at the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, has been published and is available to the public.

The Columbus and Greenville Railway Company began operation in 1889 as the Georgia Pacific. After a time in receivership, the name was changed to the Southern Railway in Mississippi. After yet another receivership, the name was changed to the Columbus and Greenville Railway Company, which remained unchanged until the railroad was included in the Illinois Central-Gulf, Mobile & Ohio merger in 1972.

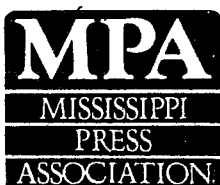

This finding aid describes the material in the collection, which contains information about virtually every aspect of the railway's operations, including expenditures, businesses served, depot and branch line construction, some of the effects of the 1912 flood on the railroad, bankruptcy proceedings, improvements, impact of the railroad on the area it served, major problems, successes, political matters of interest to the company, newspaper clippings, appraisal information and maps.

The current Columbus and Greenville Railway Company (CAGY) donated the records of the Columbus and Greenville Railway Company (C&G), its predecessor, to the Mississippi Department of Archives and History in 1975 and financially supported the publication of the guide to the collection.

The guide will be supplied to public libraries in towns on the route of the railroad. Others who wish to obtain copies should contact the Old Capitol Sales Shop, Box 571, Jackson.

Members of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County, Mississippi

We have examined the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, as of and for the year ended September 30, 1987, as listed in the table of contents. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards for financial and compliance audits contained in the Standards for Audit of Governmental Organizations, Programs, Activities and Functions, issued by the U.S. General Accounting Office, and accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The financial statements referred to above include only the financial activities of the oversight unit. Financial activities of other component units that form the reporting entity are not included.

County records do not provide for a self-balancing group of accounts for all general fixed assets, and accordingly, the component unit financial statements referred to above do not include the financial statements of the General Fixed Assets Account Group, which should be included to conform with generally accepted accounting principles. The amount that should be recorded in the General Fixed Assets Account Group is not known.

In our opinion, except for the effect on the financial statements of the omission described in the preceding paragraph, the component unit financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of Hancock County, Mississippi, at September 30, 1987, and consistent with that of the preceding year.

Our examination was made primarily for the purpose of forming an opinion on the component unit financial statements taken as a whole. The supplemental information, as listed in the table of contents, is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not necessary for fair presentation of the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi. The supplemental information has been subjected to the tests and other auditing procedures applied in our examination of the component unit financial statements. In our opinion, the supplemental information is presented fairly in all material respects in relation to the component unit financial statements taken as a whole.

Hancock County, Mississippi

We have examined the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, for the year ended September 30, 1987, and have issued our report thereon dated September 21, 1988. As part of our examination, we made a study and evaluation of the system of internal accounting control of Hancock County, Mississippi, to the extent we considered necessary to evaluate the system as required by generally accepted auditing standards and the standards for financial and compliance audits contained in the U.S. General Accounting Office Standards for Audit of Governmental Organizations, Programs, Activities and Functions. For the purpose of this report, we have classified the significant internal accounting controls in the following categories:

Accounting Controls

- Cash/Revenues
- Payroll
- Expenditures

The purpose of our study and evaluation was to determine the nature, timing, and extent of the auditing procedures necessary for expressing an opinion on the county's financial statements. Our study and evaluation was more limited than would be necessary to express an opinion on the system of internal accounting control taken as a whole or on any of the categories of controls identified above.

The management of Hancock County, Mississippi, is responsible for establishing and maintaining a system of internal accounting control. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of control procedures. The objectives of a system are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Because of inherent limitations in any system of internal accounting control, errors or irregularities may nevertheless occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of the system to future periods is subject to the risk that procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

Our study and evaluation made for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph would not necessarily disclose all material weaknesses in the system. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the system of internal accounting control of Hancock County, Mississippi, taken as a whole or on any of the categories of controls identified in the first paragraph.

However, our study and evaluation disclosed the following condition that we believe results in more than a relatively low risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, may occur and not be detected within a timely period.

Hancock County, Mississippi
Report on Internal Accounting Control
September 21, 1988

Chancery Clerk.

1. Finding

The county does not maintain an accurate inventory or adequate subsidiary records documenting the valuation of general fixed assets.

Recommendation

We recommend the county ascertain the historical cost and maintain accurate inventory records documenting the valuation of general fixed assets.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Hancock County is in the process of compiling inventory and fixed asset records as of September 30, 1988.

This condition was considered in determining the nature, timing and extent of the audit tests to be applied in our examination of the 1987 financial statements, and this report does not affect our report on the financial statements dated September 21, 1988.

This report is intended solely for the use of management and should not be used for any other purpose. This restriction is not intended to limit the distribution of this report which is a matter of public record.

Members of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County, Mississippi

We have examined the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, for the year ended September 30, 1987, and have issued our report thereon dated September 21, 1988. As part of our examination, we made a study and evaluation of the internal control systems, including applicable internal administrative controls, used in administering federal financial assistance programs to the extent we considered necessary to evaluate the systems as required by generally accepted auditing standards, the standards for financial and compliance audits contained in the Standards for Audit of Governmental Organizations, Programs, Activities and Functions, issued by the U.S. General Accounting Office, the Single Audit Act of 1984, and the provisions of OMB Circular A-128, Audits of State and Local Governments. For the purpose of this report, we have classified the significant internal accounting and administrative controls used in administering federal financial assistance programs in the following categories:

ACCOUNTING CONTROLS:

- Cash Receipts/Revenues
- Cash Disbursements/Purchasing

ADMINISTRATIVE CONTROLS:

- General Requirements
 - Political Activity
 - Civil Rights
 - Cash Management
 - Federal Financial Reports

Specific Requirements

- Types of Services
- Eligibility
- Matching Level of Effort
- Reporting

The management of Hancock County, Mississippi, is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control systems used in administering federal financial assistance programs. In fulfilling that responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of control procedures. The objectives of internal control systems used in administering federal financial assistance programs are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that, with respect to federal financial assistance programs, resource use is consistent with laws, regulations, and policies; resources are safeguarded against waste, loss and misuse; and reliable data are obtained, maintained and fairly disclosed in reports.

Because of inherent limitations in any system of internal accounting and administrative controls used in administering federal financial assistance programs, errors or irregularities may nevertheless occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of the systems to future periods is subject to the risk that procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

Our study included all of the applicable control categories listed above. During the year ended September 30, 1987, Hancock County, Mississippi, had no major federal financial assistance programs. Social services block grant and the intergovernmental service agreement for detaining aliens. With respect to internal control systems used in administering these nonmajor federal financial assistance programs, our study and evaluation included considering the types of errors and irregularities that could occur, determining the internal control procedures that should prevent or detect such errors and irregularities, determining whether the necessary procedures are prescribed and are being followed satisfactorily, and evaluating any weaknesses.

We did not study and evaluate the controls used in administering Title III-B senior center and social services block grant Title XX home delivered meals management. These grants have been audited by other auditors.

With respect to the internal control systems used solely in administering the other nonmajor federal financial assistance programs of Hancock County, Mississippi, our study and evaluation was limited to a preliminary review of the systems to obtain an understanding of the control environment and the flow of transactions through the accounting system. Our study and evaluation of the internal control systems used solely in administering these nonmajor federal financial assistance programs of Hancock County, Mississippi, did not extend beyond this preliminary review phase.

Our study and evaluation was more limited than would be necessary to express an opinion on the internal control systems used in administering the federal financial assistance programs of Hancock County, Mississippi. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the internal control systems used in administering the federal financial assistance programs of Hancock County, Mississippi.

Also, our examination, made in accordance with the standards mentioned above, would not necessarily disclose material weaknesses in the internal control systems for which our study and evaluation was limited to a preliminary review of the systems as discussed in the sixth paragraph of this report.

However, our study and evaluation and our examination disclosed the following conditions that we believe result in more than a relatively low risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material to a federal financial assistance program may occur and not be detected within a timely period.

Revenue Sharing.

1. Finding

During the audited fiscal year, federal revenue sharing was directly deposited into the county depository, but did not enter the accounting records until the subsequent fiscal year.

Recommendation

All revenue should be receipted and booked into the accounting records.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Every attempt will be made to insure that receipts are properly booked.

Detainee Housing.

1. Finding

Money received in the sheriff's office is not being deposited in a timely manner.

Recommendation

We recommend that money received be deposited daily in an effort to keep a minimal amount of cash on hand.

Sheriff's Response

We will try to make deposits on a more timely basis.

These conditions were considered in determining the nature, timing, and extent of the audit tests to be applied in (1) our examination of the 1987 component unit financial statements and (2) our examination and review of the county's compliance with laws and regulations noncompliance with which we believe could have a material effect on the allowability of program expenditures for each nonmajor federal financial assistance program. This report does not affect our report on the financial statements and on the county's compliance with laws and regulations dated September 21, 1988.

This report is intended solely for the use of management, the cognizant agency and the grantor of federal financial assistance and should not be used for any other purpose. This restriction is not intended to limit the distribution of this report, which upon acceptance by Hancock County, Mississippi, is a matter of public record.

We have examined the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, for the year ended September 30, 1987, and have issued our report thereon dated September 21, 1988. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards for financial and compliance audits contained in the Standards for Audit of Governmental Organizations, Programs, Activities and Functions, issued by the U.S. General Accounting Office, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The management of Hancock County, Mississippi, is responsible for the county's compliance with laws and regulations. In connection with our examination referred to above, we selected and tested transactions and records to determine the county's compliance with laws and regulations noncompliance with which could have a material effect on the component unit financial statements of the county.

The results of our tests indicate that for the items tested, Hancock County, Mississippi, complied with those provisions of laws and regulations noncompliance with which could have a material effect on the component unit financial statements. Nothing came to our attention that caused us to believe that for the items not tested Hancock County, Mississippi, was not in compliance with laws or regulations noncompliance with which could have a material effect on the county's component unit financial statements.

Hancock County, Mississippi

The Mississippi State Auditor's office has completed the audit of Hancock County, Mississippi, for the year ended September 30, 1987. Mississippi State Auditor's office staff members participating in this engagement included: George C. Shurden, Jr. CPA, Norman Douglas Armstrong, CPA, Patricia J. Greer, James B. Norris, Janet T. Dudding, CPA, Emily B. Lacey, Jack Dunkley, Lucy Johnson and Lynne Wade.

During the course of our engagement certain matters came to our attention which require the attention of management. These matters involve opinion qualifications, deviations from prescribed accounting systems and procedures, legal compliance violations and weaknesses in internal administrative and accounting controls. Our findings and recommendations and your responses are as follows:

Board of Supervisors.

1. Finding

Section 25-1-87, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states all motor vehicles owned by counties shall be marked on both sides in letters at least three inches in height, and on the rear in letters not less than one half inches in height, with the names of the county. While performing the fiscal year 1986-1987 audit, it was observed that a county-owned pickup, tag number C-4599 was unmarked.

Recommendation

We recommend the board of supervisors comply with the aforementioned section.

Board of Supervisors' Response

All county-owned vehicles, except for unmarked sheriff's cars, are now properly marked.

2. Finding

Section 25-3-41, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states employees shall be reimbursed for actual expenses such as meals, lodging and other necessary expenses incurred in the course of travel, subject to limitations placed on meals by the fiscal management board, which is $18 per day. For the audited fiscal year, it appears the board of supervisors were at times reimbursed in excess of the $18 daily limit.

Recommendation

We recommend the board of supervisors comply with the aforementioned section.

Board of Supervisors' Response

Hancock County will take appropriate measures to assure compliance with this section.

3. Finding

Section 19-11-17, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states that no expenditures be made in excess of the finally determined budget as approved by the board of supervisors. During the audited fiscal year, the general county fund actual expenditures exceeded budgeted expenditures.

Recommendation

We recommend that expenditures not be made in excess of budgeted amounts.

Board of Supervisors' Response

Hancock County has begun the implementation of a new computerized accounting system that will not allow expenditures to exceed the budget, effective October 1, 1988.

4. Finding

Section 27-39-321, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states that no political subdivision may levy ad valorem taxes in any fiscal year that exceed 110% of the total taxes that were collected in the prior year. During the audited fiscal year, the road and bridge purpose funds and the junior college purpose funds exceeded the 110% limitation allowed by the aforementioned section.

Recommendation

We recommend that the taxes collected not exceed the 110% limitation as required by the aforementioned section.

Board of Supervisors' Response

Homestead exemption reimbursement was placed in road and bridge and junior college funds causing an increase exceeding the 110% cap. Appropriate steps have been taken to correct this problem, effective September, 1988.

5. Finding

State law dictates what purposes county funds may be expended. On December 15, 1986, a board order approved the payment of payroll checks for the December 16, 1986 through December 31, 1986 payroll to be paid on December 15, 1986. We do not know of any authority that provides for making such advances to employees.

Recommendation

We recommend that the practice of making payroll advances be stopped.

Board of Supervisors' Response

Hancock County has ceased paying Christmas advances to employees since December 1986.

Chancery Clerk.

1. Finding

The auditor's opinion is qualified as to fair presentation of the combined financial statements because the county does not maintain an accurate inventory or adequate subsidiary records documenting the valuation of general fixed assets.

Recommendation

We recommend the county ascertain the historical cost and maintain accurate inventory records documenting the valuation of general fixed assets.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Hancock County is in the process of compiling inventory and fixed asset records as of September 30, 1988.

2. Finding

Section 25-7-21, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states that the chancery clerk shall be paid certain fees for land redemption. During the audited fiscal year, it was discovered by the chancery clerk that interest on these collections was not being settled to the county depository in a total amount of $12,502.07.

Recommendation

We recommend that the chancery clerk receive only those fees described in the aforementioned section.

Chancery Clerk's Response

The chancery clerk repaid $12,502.07 to the State Auditor's office on November 12, 1987. This was received by the county from the State Audit Department Exception Clearing Account on January 11, 1988, receive warrant #3404.

3. Finding

Section 9-5-167, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states the clerk of the chancery court shall subscribe to at least one and not more than two of the newspapers published in his county as the court or chancellor shall direct...and shall carefully file the original or a microfilm copy thereof in his office. While performing the 1986-1987 audit, it was observed that the last newspaper on file was for 1900.

Recommendation

We recommend the chancery clerk comply with the aforementioned section.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Arrangements have been made to bring the newspaper files up to date.

4. Finding

Section 27-19-159, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires road and bridge privilege taxes to be used for road and bridge purposes only. During the fiscal year 1986-1987, road and bridge taxes were deposited into the General Fund.

Recommendation

We recommend road and bridge privilege taxes be deposited into road and/or bridge funds and be used only for road and bridge purposes.

Chancery Clerk's Response

The misclassification of these funds has been corrected and the monies were transferred to the correct fund on September 6, 1988.

5. Finding

Section 25-7-9, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires the chancery clerk to pay the salaries of his deputies. At September 30, 1987, the fund used to pay the chancery clerk's deputies had a negative cash balance. The fund was not reimbursed until November 30, 1987.

Recommendation

We recommend that the chancery clerk make deposits to this fund before warrants are issued.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Hancock County has begun implementation of a new computerized accounting system that will correct this deficiency effective October 1, 1988.

6. Finding

Section 19-13-43, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires no warrant be issued until funds are available. For the audited fiscal year, warrants were issued when funds were not available.

Recommendation

- We recommend the chancery clerk comply with the aforementioned section.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Hancock County has begun implementation of a new computerized accounting system that will correct these deficiencies effective October 1, 1988.

7. Finding

Section 27-33-71, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states that exemptions claimed in the 1986 calendar year for which reimbursement is made in the 1987 calendar year shall be 1/2 from taxes levied for school district purposes and 1/2 from taxes levied for county general fund purposes. During the audited fiscal year, homestead exemption reimbursements were also received in road funds and junior college funds.

Recommendation

We recommend that homestead exemption reimbursements be deposited in accordance with the aforementioned section.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Hancock County has taken appropriate steps to insure the correct receipting of the homestead exemption reimbursement.

8. Finding

County government is responsible for keeping on file all pertinent information on wages and all authorizations for deductions from the employees' salaries and wages. For the audited fiscal year, not all personnel files contain wage rates, state withholding forms, and withholding authorization to various insurance companies.

Recommendation

We recommend the personnel files contain the information as required in the above mentioned section.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Personnel files have now been updated to contain all necessary information.

9. Finding

Section 7-7-211, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), gives the State Auditor's office the authority to prescribe systems for county governments. During the audited fiscal year, the county did not maintain an investment ledger or a long-term debt ledger. The county was also not using the prescribed chart of accounts.

Recommendation

We recommend that the county maintain an investment ledger and a long-term debt ledger as prescribed. The county should also use the chart of accounts prescribed by the State Auditor's office.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Hancock County has begun implementation of a new computerized accounting system that will correct these deficiencies effective October 1, 1988.

10. Finding

Section 19-13-29, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states that when claims against the county shall be presented to the clerk...the clerk shall mark "filed" on each such claim, as of the date of presentation. For the audited fiscal year, not all claims against the county had "filed" or the date of presentation indicated.

Recommendation

We recommend the above section be followed.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Hancock County has taken steps to be in compliance with this section effective October 1, 1988.

11. Finding

Section 19-13-23, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states any person having a just claim against any county shall file the same on or before the last day of the month for which such claim may be payable with the clerk of the board of supervisors for presentation to the board for allowances. Said claim shall be properly dated and itemized, and shall be accompanied by any evidence of performance of delivery. For the audited fiscal year, some travel expense reimbursements were made without travel vouchers and receipts being submitted.

Recommendation

We recommend the aforementioned section be followed.

Chancery Clerk's Response

The expenditures in question were submitted and approved by the appropriate department heads. Effective October 1, 1988, additional documentation will be required for all travel expenses.

12. Finding

Section 27-31-79, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), sets forth the amount of mineral documentary tax to be collected when a mineral lease is filed and recorded. During the audited fiscal year, the mineral documentary tax was not being calculated properly by the chancery clerk's office.

Recommendation

We recommend the aforementioned code section be followed when calculating the mineral documentary tax.

Chancery Clerk's Response

The chancery clerk will take necessary steps to insure that the proper amount of mineral lease stamps are fixed to these documents as per Section 27-31-79.

13. Finding

Cash was not reconciled properly by individual funds.

Recommendation

We recommend that cash be reconciled by fund.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Hancock County has taken appropriate steps to reconcile cash by funds effective September 30, 1988.

14. Finding

Several transfers and loans between individual funds were made during fiscal year 1986-1987 but not receipted until fiscal year 1987-1988.

Recommendation

We recommend all transfers and loans between funds be recorded in both the expending and the receiving funds.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Hancock County has taken appropriate steps to insure that interfund receipts and expenditures are recorded timely.

15. Finding

Not all time sheets are signed by department heads or supervisors.

Recommendation

We recommend all time sheets be signed by department heads or supervisors.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Signed time sheets will be required from all departments effective October 1, 1988.

Tax Assessor-Collector.

1. Finding

Section 27-29-11, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires the tax collector, on the first day of each month, or within 20 days thereafter, to report and pay over all taxes collected during the preceding month. During the period under review, there was an accumulation of unidentified unsettled funds.

Recommendation

The tax collector should settle all collections within 20 days after the month of collection, as required by the aforementioned code section.

Tax Assessor-Collector's Response

While the above is correct, this office has always endeavored to comply with all existing laws and directives. In the future all existing laws and directives will be followed, without reservation.

Sheriff.

1. Finding

Section 19-25-13, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires that any fees collected by the sheriff should be paid monthly into the General Fund of the county. During the audited fiscal year, settlements were not being made monthly.

Recommendation

We recommend that fees collected be settled monthly as required by the aforementioned code section.

Sheriff's Response

We will make settlements on a monthly basis.

2. Finding

Section 19-25-74, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires the sheriff to file with the board of supervisors a log of meals served prisoners for the month. During the audited fiscal year, the log of prisoner meals was not filed monthly with the board of supervisors.

Recommendation

We recommend that the meal log be submitted to the board of supervisors as required by the aforementioned code section.

Sheriff's Response

MILITARY

SEAMAN SHIRLEY

Navy Seaman Recruit Richard S. Shirley, son of Lynne I. Shirley of Waveland, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego.

During Shirley's eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Shirley's studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in physical education and hygiene.

He joined the Navy in October 1988.

It's not too late to learn.

3. Finding

Bank reconciliations are not being prepared monthly.

Recommendation

We recommend that bank reconciliations be prepared monthly on a timely basis.

Sheriff's Response

We will begin reconciling in a timely manner.

4. Finding

During the audited fiscal year, money from vending machines was being deposited into an inmate commissary fund handled by the sheriff's office. We know of no authority for handling vending machine commissions in this manner.

Recommendation

We recommend that the vending machine commissions be turned over to the county.

Sheriff's Response

We are now looking into this matter.

5. Finding

Section 7-7-211, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), gives the State Auditor's office the authority to prescribe systems of accounting for all public offices. During the audited fiscal year, the cash journal as prescribed by the State Auditor's office was not being reconciled properly.

Recommendation

We recommend that the cash journal be reconciled monthly as prescribed by the State Auditor's office.

Sheriff's Response

We will make sure that this is done on a monthly basis.

Justice Court Clerk.

1. Finding

Section 7-7-211, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), gives the State Auditor's office the authority to prescribe systems of accounting for all public offices. During the audited fiscal year, the clerk was not posting disbursements to the clearing account cash journal as prescribed by the State Auditor's office.

Recommendation

We recommend that the justice court clerk use the prescribed clearing account cash journal in the manner prescribed by the State Auditor's office.

Justice Court Clerk's Response

This office is in the process of converting to the prescribed system and will continue to do so until completed.

2. Finding

The civil account bank reconciliations are not being prepared timely. The account is three months behind in preparation of bank reconciliations.

Recommendation

We recommend that bank reconciliations be prepared monthly in a timely manner.

Justice Court Clerk's Response

Due to an accounting error this account was not reconciled timely in order for us to identify and correct the error.

Purchase Clerk.

1. Finding

Section 31-7-113, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires the State Department of Audit to design and prescribe forms and systems of a central purchase system. The county did not comply with the Audit Department's prescribed procedures because a purchase requisition docket was not maintained.

Recommendation

We recommend a purchase requisition docket be maintained by the county.

Purchase Clerk's Response

Hancock County has begun the implementation of a new centralized purchasing system which will correct this. It will be effective October 1, 1988.

Constables.

1. Finding

Section 19-19-3, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires constables to be bonded for the amount of $25,000 each. During the audited fiscal year, one constable, Phillip W. Malley, was bonded for $5,000.

Recommendation

We recommend constables be bonded for $25,000 each, per Section 19-19-3, Miss. Code Ann. (1972).

Constables' Response

Hancock County's constables are bonded for the correct amount effective January 1, 1988.

The Mississippi State Auditor's office has taken exception to certain costs. The details of the exception and disposition are as follows:

Exception Issued On:

Michael Necaise.

Nature of Exception:

See Chancery Clerk Finding # 2.

Amount of Exception:

$12,502.07.

Disposition of Exception:

The amount was settled to the State Auditor's Exception Clearing Account on January 11, 1988 for the use and benefit of Hancock County.

Mr. Sam J. Perniciaro, District 4 Supervisor, was indicted on charges of corrupt practices using public funds, on July 8, 1987, as a result of "Operation Pretense". Mr. Perniciaro is awaiting sentence.

Mr. Roger Dale Ladner, District 3 Supervisor, was indicted on charges of corrupt practices using public funds, on December 3, 1987, as a result of "Operation Pretense". Mr. Ladner is awaiting trial.

Mr. James M. Trávica, District 5 Supervisor, was indicted on charges of corrupt practices using public funds, on February 2, 1988, as a result of "Operation Pretense". Mr. Trávica is awaiting trial.

The findings in this management report came to our attention as a result of audit procedures and tests. These procedures and tests cannot and do not provide absolute assurance that the county conducted its operations in compliance with all legal requirements. In accordance with Section 7-7-211, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), the State Auditor's office, when deemed necessary, may conduct additional procedures and tests of transactions and records for this or other fiscal years to insure compliance with legal requirements.

The State Auditor's office will review, on future audit engagements, the findings in this management report to insure that corrective action plans have been implemented which correct all findings.

While the Pearl River Community College Board of Trustees is considering whether not operation of the Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center will be turned over to the Hancock School District bill being considered by state lawmakers may increase the amount of taxes earmarked for support of junior colleges.

Bill 2145, described by State Representative J.P. Comprette of Bay St. Louis as "controversial," passed before the House Representatives Friday after had been amended numerous times.

"It had 19 or 20 amendments attached to it, so it was a very controversial bill," Comprette said.

According to Comprette, the bill is intended to insure that areas served by junior colleges provide a fair share of the funding.

Although the bill already has passed before the Senate, it will return to them for another vote since the House's amended version is different from the Senate's version.

Slot machines at VFW Post

Slot machines were seized by investigators from the state attorney general's office and the Mississippi Highway Patrol this week at a VFW hall.

The machines were discovered Tuesday at VFW Post 4804 on Lower Bay Road when officers were investigating a complaint from someone who identified himself as a member of the post.

Post Commander Ray Prentice of Herron Bay Estates said he played the four electronic machines in the post hall about a week ago.
